

LOCAL MILL MEN TALK ON TARIFF

A. G. Cumnock Says New Rate
Would Effect Color Work—
Hosiery Rushing

Mill men of this city as a whole do not seem to fancy the new tariff bill as proposed, but nevertheless they are not ready yet to speak on the subject. The writer called on a number of mill agents this forenoon in order to get a statement as to their views on the tariff bill, and in some cases he was referred to the treasurer of the company, while in other cases the mill men were not ready to speak on the subject, but they believed radical changes will be made in the proposed bill, so that the New England manufacturers would not be so much affected.

At the Saco-Lowell shops, according to the superintendent, business is uncertain and will be until the matter of the proposed tariff bill is settled one way or the other. The other mills, however, are not anticipating any decrease in their production until the matter is finally settled.

The Appleton Mills

Mr. A. G. Cumnock, treasurer of the Appleton Co., when seen this morning, said it is too early to talk tariff at present. He said he wants more information concerning the proposed bill and accordingly wrote to Mr. Underwood relative to dye stuff. "We specialize in that particular line of work," continued Mr. Cumnock, "and at the present we are getting ready to put out several new patented colors, which are imported, and that is why we would like to know just how the matter stands. The bill as drawn will surely affect the local cotton mills about 10 per cent, and about 12½ per cent. on goods that have coloring."

Mr. Cumnock concluded by saying that he hopes the bill will be modified to some extent, especially on the articles concerning cotton and wool. He said the proposed bill is being studied carefully, and he may be able to say more about it at some near future date.

Business is very good at the Appleton mill. The new plant of the company which was erected some time ago, adjoining the office building, is now running full blast with some 350 help. The company was compelled to build this addition on account of rearrangements in the mill. Machines were moved from and into all parts of the mill, and finally it was decided to build the addition, which is a fine and well lighted structure. The power for the new plant is being supplied from the same source as for the old mill.

Saco-Lowell Shops

"Business is in suspense here and very uncertain," said Superintendent Thompson of the Saco-Lowell shops this morning, "and undoubtedly will remain in this stage until the new tariff bill is either passed or rejected. Then," continued Mr. Thompson, "business will resume on a new basis."

"The new tariff bill will if passed as drawn affect considerably the Saco-Lowell shops and other industries of this kind in this part of the country," said Mr. Thompson, "at the moment."

Funeral Notice Correction
In the Courier-Citizen this morning it was erroneously stated that the funeral of Henry W. Folsom, 935 Middlesex street, would be held Sunday. It should have read Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

facturers will be forced to compete with foreign industry." The company for some time has been planning the erection of a new foundry and core house, but there is nothing definite as to plans of the new building, and it may be abandoned entirely. The shop is running full time but there seems to be a drawback with the orders, as though everything is awaiting the outcome of the proposed tariff bill.

The Lawrence Mfg. Co.

Agent Walker of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. refused to discuss the tariff bill this morning, but said business is very good at the hosiery. The company is now contemplating the erection of a new storehouse, and work will be started on the same by the first of the month.

Mr. Walker paid a tribute to the memory of the late Henry W. Folsom, one of the overseers of the hosiery who passed away yesterday after an illness of only a couple of days, deceased having succumbed to an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Walker said Mr. Folsom had been an employee of the Lawrence hosiery for the past forty years, and served the said company as overseer of the knitting department for the past 25 years. "Mr. Folsom," said Mr. Walker, "was one of our best men and his demise will be keenly felt by both the officials of the company and those employed by him. He was a faithful employee and a man who understood his business thoroughly. It was well liked and was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and his premature death is a sad blow to all who had any dealings with him."

BLESSING OF INFANTS

At St. Patrick's Church
Tomorrow Afternoon

MIEN'S MISSION WILL CLOSE TOMORROW EVENING

Mission for Unmarried Women Will Close at St. Peter's Tomorrow, and Services for Married Men Open

The solemn close of the men's mission at St. Patrick's church will take place tomorrow evening when special services will be held, starting at 7:30. There will be a final appeal to the men in a sermon on perseverance, recitation of the rosary and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Tomorrow afternoon, the missionary fathers will be present at a meeting of the members of the League of the Sacred Heart in the lower church and will address the members. The beautiful ceremony of the blessing of the infants will take place at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Fr. Carey, S. J., said that "admission to this service will be by ticket only and the ticket will be a baby." It is expected that a large number of infants will be brought to the church to receive the blessing.

The services tonight will consist of the Holy Hour observance, with instructions and sermon and to those who attend will be granted a plenary indulgence according to a decree of the pope.

At St. Peter's

No less successful is the mission conducted at St. Peter's church by the Redemptorist fathers and the attendance is large at all the services. The mission for the unmarried women of the parish to whom the past week has been devoted will close tomorrow afternoon and that for the married men will open tomorrow evening.

Sacred Heart

The members of the Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart parish will receive their quarterly communion at the 7:30 o'clock mass tomorrow. After the services breakfast will be served in the school hall. A social hour will also be enjoyed.

The Hildreth Cemetery

Commissioner Cummings is making inquiry relative to the city's responsibility or authority in the Hildreth cemetery. Mr. Cummings is not sure that the Hildreth cemetery is a public burying ground and he wants to find out about it. He does know that a portion of the cemetery is devoted to members of the Hildreth family for a burial place and as to the remainder of the cemetery he is endeavoring to ascertain.

For New Dwellings

Fablio Bourgeois has been granted a permit for the erection of a dwelling at 44 Arlington street. The building will have three apartments of three rooms each, with pantry and bath. It will be 25 by 61 feet and three stories in height. The estimated cost is $4000.

Contract For Oils

The contract for one carload of No. 1 clipped oats for the health department has been awarded to Wilder & Wotton, their bid being 42 cents a bushel. Sav-Vigant bid 45½ cents a bushel.

ROME, April 12.—Late this afternoon the pope was informed by the physicians in attendance that the tracheal bronchitis is due to uracemic acid setting in the upper part of the tracheal tube instead of to infectious inflammation.

The sisters of the pope, who had believed him entirely out of danger, were deeply impressed by the relapse and gave way to their feelings. They then resumed their nursing of the patient.

A group of people gathered on the steps of St. Peter's palace and the windows of the pope's apartments, noticed that the illness of his bedridden was closed this afternoon.

The Observatore Romano, the Vatican official newspaper publishes this evening the following bulletin:

"On April 7 the pope fell ill with a relapse of influenza, with symptoms of tracheal bronchitis. The fever stopped three days ago but returned today with aggravation of catarrh in the throat. There are no symptoms to cause alarm."

POPE LEFT BED THIS MORNING OWING TO IMPROVED CONDITION

ROME, April 12.—The amelioration in the condition of the health of Pope Pius X is being maintained so well that Prof. Ettore Marchisiani is considering the advisability of ceasing to visit the pontiff twice daily in company with Dr. Andrea Amici, as he has been doing for some time, and of resuming his ordinary bi-weekly visit alone. His greatest effort now is directed at combating the reluctance of the pope to take nourishment.

The pope rose from bed today and went to the window overlooking the piazza.

Voice Was Full

Archbishop Jean Joseph Koppes of Luxembourg after his reception by the pope this morning said he found the pontiff looking worn and showing the suffering he had gone through but that he displayed a strong spirit and was full of confidence in his recovery. The pope expressed the belief that God would give him sufficient strength to accomplish the task he had begun "to restore everything in Christ."

Sister and Niece Visit Pope
A sister and a niece of the pope visited him today and remained longer than usual. They said that the improvement in his condition was very marked and that he seems to have a greater disposition to take nourishment.

PRE-MARRIAGE CONTRACT

Revealed in Document
at Court House

IT FOLLOWED AN OLD CANADIAN CUSTOM

Recorded at Local Court House as the Contracting Parties Came to Residence Here

The writer while at the registry of deeds yesterday, came across a peculiar document in the form of a marriage contract which is something original in this country. The paper was prepared at St. Hyacinthe, Que., in 1881, and a copy of it which is written in French was filed at the office of the registry of deeds in 1880. In Canada it is customary to have some agreement between the contracting parties previous to a marriage, and these agreements which are generally drawn by a notary public contain items which are at times very interesting.

The document was recorded here because the parties came here. A translation of the copy is as follows: In the year 1881, Oct. 4, before the undersigned, Francois Xavier Alphonse Boissau, notary public for the province of Quebec, residing in St. Hyacinthe, in the district of St. Hyacinthe, here appeared Joseph Tanette Robitaille, merchant of the city of St. Hyacinthe, son of Paul Leon Robitaille, citizen of the same place, stipulating for him and in his name. And Alina Caroline Archambault, daughter of Louis Archambault, clerk in the city of St. Hyacinthe, and of the late Marie Celina Prairie, his wife, both stipulating and contracting for her. The said parties under advice and by agreement of their respective parents and friends, namely Paul Leon Robitaille, father; Marie Louise Gougeon, step-mother; Caroline Robitaille, sister; Philomene Marchessault, the cousin; Alexis Dion, Zephierine Marchessault and Sophie Rabin, friends; and Louis Archambault, father of the future bride; Prosper Lavigne and his wife, Azilda Marchessault, and several friends.

The ceremony is to be performed at the request of the party, providing the following rules are followed: Each of the contracting couple will retain the entire administration of his or her estate, and consequently one will not be held responsible for debts contracted by one or the other previous to or during the marriage. The future bridegroom will take upon himself the expense of the marriage, the same to be paid from his revenues or estate. The future bride gives up all claims in the dowry, and waives the future bride's right to a portion of the dowry, and agrees to transfer to his future wife an insurance policy issued by the "Royal Company of England," to the amount of $1000, and in the event of the future bridegroom failing to comply with this request, the future bride will lay claim on a dowry of $1000. The dowry and clothing and garments to the value of $500, and in order to retain the same as her personal property the future bride is requested to mark each item with her initials. Such are the civil agreements for the marriage of the future bride and groom, who at the present are both living at their respective homes. Then followed about a score of signatures. Recorded at the registry of deeds office, July 31, 1900.

FIGHT OVER TARIFF SUGAR SCHEDULE

House Democrats Met—Vigorous Stand Against Provision for Free Raw Sugar

WASHINGTON, April 12.—House democrats today began their fight over the sugar tariff schedule. Opponents of the administration rates as proposed in the Underwood bill began a vigorous stand against the provision for free raw sugar in three years. Representatives from Louisiana, led by Rep. Broussard and aided by members from Michigan and other beet sugar states assailed the duties approved by the ways and means committee and President Wilson as ruinous to the sugar industry in these states.

Chairman Underwood began the argument in defense of the schedule, detailing the long careful study the committee had given to the sugar question. Amendments proposed by Rep. Broussard were opposed by the flat free sugar champions led by Rep. Hardwick of Georgia who offered an amendment that raw sugar be placed on the free list at once.

Rep. Broussard's first amendment proposed a cut on 55 per cent. sugar from Cuba of 20 cents per hundredweight at the outset, 20 cents in 1916 and 37 cents in 1919. On 100 per cent. sugar his amendment would make a cut in the rate of 37½ cents per hundredweight now, 50 cents in 1916, and 62 cents in 1919.

Another amendment proposed was to extend the period of grace for free sugar to four years, thus throwing it beyond the next national campaign when the question could again be publicly discussed.

DEMAND FOR PUBLIC MARKET

Local Business Men Believe it
Would be of Great Benefit to the Public at Large

Civic economists of Lowell have brought that universally agitated question of the high cost of living down to a local problem and as a material solution, have advanced the idea of the organizing of a public market. With the apparent, constant increase in the cost of necessities, there has been an accompanying multiplication of theoretical solutions. Theory, however, has failed to effect a reduction and the suggestion and recommendation to the municipal council some time ago by the board of trade has been approved and applauded by nearly all parties from the producer to the consumer. This proposal has been perhaps the most practical of all the improvements which the citizens have been given to consider.

Very little investigation is required that one may become aware of the advantages of having a public market and a little thought and the consideration to the municipal

SAYS R. R. CLAIMS ARE UNFAIR

W. S. Carter Attacks Statement
That Cos. Would Show Deficit
If Increase Was Granted

NEW YORK, April 12.—The claims of the eastern railroads that some of them would show a deficit in their earnings if the request of their shippers for an advance in wages should be granted is misleading and unfair, according to contentions set forth in a brief submitted today by W. S. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen to the board of arbitration that is to decide the wage dispute.

Mr. Carter sets forth that only 12 of the 52 roads involved in the controversy are independent. These 12, he says, control the 40 others and that "by a division of traffic or by an allotment of earnings might make 49 of the roads which are appearing here show a deficit, while the 12 proprietary of the subsidiaries would have an immense surplus each year. The present roads, in other words can make the earnings of the subsidiaries practically any amount they wish."

It is further contended that excluding eight roads now showing deficits the combined surplus of the railroads involved amount to $256,288,531. "With this enormous amount at their disposal," says Mr. Carter, "it is evident that the railroads are fully able to pay the increase in wages asked, which, according to the extravagant estimate of the railroads themselves would result in an annual charge amounting to less than one-fifth of the total amount of surplus."

Mr. Carter also cites statistics to show that an increase in firemen's wages of as much as 50 per cent would require only 1.11 per cent. of the total operating revenues of the roads during the last year.

The brief in behalf of the railroads was submitted last night and today the board continued its deliberations. A decision must be reached by April 25.

HONOR CAPT. AMUNDSEN

"Fram" to Follow Warships Through Canal

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 12.—"I am glad of it," was all that Captain Roud Amundsen would say when shown a despatch from Norway saying that the United States would offer him the honor of allowing the Fram, now in South American waters to be the first vessel other than a warship, to pass through the Panama canal when he starts on his next polar expedition. He expects to leave San Francisco for the polar region in June, 1914.

MORGAN'S BODY IN HOME

Lies Among Art Treasures of Library

NEW YORK, April 12.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan lies among the art treasures of his private library.

It reached New York on the steamer France in a driving rain yesterday afternoon, and at dusk was taken from the ship's mortuary chapel, sombre in heavy velvet and resplendent in silver and gold, to a motor hearse, which conveyed it from the pier to the library.

Hundreds braved the dreaching rain and stood in the streets to watch it pass.

Among the rare bronzes, costly paintings and other art objects which he brought here from Europe the dead financier will lie in state till Monday morning when the funeral services will be held in St. George's Protestant Episcopal church.

DR. HARVEY RESIGNS

As Secretary of State

Registration Board

BOSTON, April 12.—Because of ill health, Dr. Edwin B. Harvey has resigned as secretary of the state board of registration in medicine, a position he has held since the board was organized. He will remain as a member of the board.

Announcement of his resignation from the secretaryship was made yesterday. He has been in ill health several weeks.

Dr. Harvey, who has long been one of the best known physicians in Worcester county, was born in 1831 in Deerfield, N. H., and was graduated from Wesleyan university in 1859.

He served in the Massachusetts legislature as representative in 1884-85 from the second Worcester district. He served both years on the committee on public charitable institutions, being its chairman in 1885. He was representative again in 1894, when he was chairman of the committee for two third years. He was a member of the Massachusetts Medical society, of which he has been president. For more than 20 years he was its councillor, and in 1886 was its anniversary chairman.

He is a republican.

ANNUAL CONVENTION

Hundreds of Women Arriving in Washington to Attend Session of the Daughters of American Revolution

ADVERTISING BRINGS BIG RESULTS

Energy of Local Auto Agents in Co-operating With Sun's Auto Section

The energy of the local automobile sales agents and proprietors of garages in advertising and publicity work has been a great factor in their success; their co-operation with the spirit shown in The Sun's automobile section, which has, by the way, been larger than ever, has been fruitful.

Advertising of the various makes of automobiles is eagerly read by the enthusiasts just as baseball reports are devoured by the fans. And it is safe to say that in its own season, the "automobile bug" is hardly less energetic in its action upon the disposition and tastes of men than is the "baseball bug." The great feature of the magnificent campaign of advertising which is now continuing is the artistic manner of presenting such reading material to the public. In most instances a cut of the particular make of auto is used to give the reader an idea of the characteristics as seen in the body of the car. A picture of this kind apparently has the effect of creating far greater interest than columns of reading matter concerning the machine. As a counter to the advertising of the manufacturers and distributors is and has been most successful.

Mr. Dana's Activity Brings Results

The writer in making his rounds of the auto sales rooms and garages paid a visit to Mr. George R. Dana, whose establishment is located in East Merrimack street, and there he found evidence of the great demand for Hudson cars. There were no less than six rears. There were no less than six rears. There were no less than six rears.

Advertising of the various makes of automobiles is eagerly read by the enthusiasts just as baseball reports are devoured by the fans. And it is safe to say that in its own season, the "automobile bug" is hardly less energetic in its action upon the disposition and tastes of men than is the "baseball bug." The great feature of the magnificent campaign of advertising which is now continuing is the artistic manner of presenting such reading material to the public. In most instances a cut of the particular make of auto is used to give the reader an idea of the characteristics as seen in the body of the car. A picture of this kind apparently has the effect of creating far greater interest than columns of reading matter concerning the machine. As a counter to the advertising of the manufacturers and distributors is and has been most successful.

GRAND VAUDEVILLE BENEFIT HELD

At the Opera House for the Flood
Sufferers a Great Success—
Sum of $1200 Realized

Great array of local and theatrical talent combined in a splendid vaudeville performance that was enjoyed by nearly 2000 people at the Lowell Opera House, kindly donated for the purpose. The success of the event reflects credit upon all concerned, not excepting the newspapers that boomed it from the first.

The Lowell Opera House was the scene, last night, of the greatest vaudeville show ever witnessed in this city and every seat in the house was taken. It was a monster benefit for the Ohio flood sufferers and netted approximately $1200. There were actors and actresses from other theatres and the cream of local talent. Mayor O'Donnell held the boards for a few minutes and expressed his delight with the success of the entertainment. He said the success of the occasion was due to the fact that everybody had his shoulder to the wheel "and co-operation," said His Honor, "is the keynote of success in any undertaking." The mayor's remarks were brief, to the point and well received.

Seats Taken Early

The curtain went up at 7:05 o'clock and the seats, even at that early hour, were about all taken. An orchestra of 30 musicians from the theatres of the city, augmented by members of the musicians' union, filled the house with music, starting off with the opening bars of "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Emil J. Böres conducted and the big band gave out great music. The whole show was fixed by Manager Ward and was pulled off on schedule time from start to finish. Mr. Ward, by the way, deserves a great deal of credit for the general success of the affair. It was first intended to have benefits in the different theatres and it was upon Mr. Ward's suggestion that the theatres combined for the big show at the Opera House. It was a great scheme and carried well.

Local Talent Good

All of the acts were good and the local talent held its own very well with the professionals. The Honey Boy Minstrels held the boards for 30 minutes and were given a great applause. William H. Way conducted the performance. The numbers given were: Bass solo, "Old Black Joe," Guy Johnson; opening chorus, with solo by Master Paul Coleman; "That Old Girl of Mine," James T. Shugrue; "Row, Row, Row," Joseph Chappell; "When I Carried Your Books From School," Master Paul Coleman; "Snook's Oukums," Ralph Carney; "Let Me Be a Soldier," Ralph Carney; "Wildcat," William Carr; "At Uncle Tom's Cabin Door," Charles Sadler; "Till the Sands of the Desert Grow Cold," John Wilby; "At the Devil's Ball," Ed. Handley, and finale, "Dixie Eyes of Southern Gray," Miss Anna Murphy was the pianist.

Mayor O'Donnell's Address

Mayor James E. O'Donnell who was slated for the third place on the bill, then stepped forward and spoke, as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen: While charity coverseth a multitude of sins, I shall not attempt to take advantage of that fact by inflicting a lengthy speech upon you, but shall simply express a few thoughts inspired by this most important occasion.

When the mayor of Dayton, Ohio, recently sent me a telegraphic appeal for aid, immediately called upon the public to assist in raising a fund for the flood sufferers. When the reports came to the effect that the bread line in Dayton alone numbered over 7,000 it became my earnest desire that the fund sent from this city should be of substantial dimensions. Two ways were suggested to raise this offering: by public subscription, which would reach men and women of ample means, and by an entertainment of pieces of entertainment that would give the majority of the people, whose means are limited, an opportunity to render their assistance. According to subscription lists started by local banks, while a letter was sent to the theatrical managers, asking their aid. No sooner had the appeal to the managers been received, when to use the vernacular, they were on the job to a man, and forthwith tonight's monster attraction was arranged. You are witnessing this evening, the greatest vaudeville program ever offered the public of Lowell, but primarily you are helping a worthy cause. Practically everything in connection with this entertainment, from the rental of the

Shoe Machinery Transferred by Caucus

DEMOCRATS OF HOUSE STRIKE OFF DUTY COMMITTEE CUT

First Real Break of Democrats From Ways and Means Committee Rates Sugar Forces Will Fight

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Shoe machinery, now taxed 15 per cent, on which a reduction of 25 per cent was proposed by the tariff revision bill, was ordered transferred to the free list by the democratic caucus of the house yesterday. It was the first real break of the democrats from the ways and means committee rates, though earlier in the day the caucus had agreed to an amendment offered by Representative Palmer of Pennsylvania, a member of the committee and in charge of the tariff schedule, under which lead, containing a strain of less than 3 per cent of zinc would be admitted free of duty on the zinc contained in it.

For three days there had been a great deal of speckling from members with and without grievances, but all amendments proposed had been steadily voted down with majorities satisfactory to the democratic leaders. The shoe machinery amendment, proposed by Representative Bortland of Missouri and carried by a viva voce vote without substantial opposition from the members of the committee, followed a lively discussion in which Representative Ogelsby of New York, a new member, arraigned the so-called United Shoe Machinery trust and pointed to the free list as an opportunity to let it competition.

Anti-Free Sugar

The other development of the day was the agreement of Louisiana members on an anti-free sugar program in the caucus, with Representative Broussard on guard to offer a series of amendments to the sugar schedule to represent the sentiment of the Louisiana cane sugar interests and the beet sugar sections.

The sugar schedule was taken up today, with an all-day fight in prospect. Representative Hardwick of Georgia and others are insistent upon immediate free sugar. The Broussard amendments would make the hundred weight rate on 56 degree sugar from Cuba $1.14 on passage of the bill, $1.056 on June 30, 1915, and 37-2-10 cents on June 30, 1915, instead of 1.348, as under the present law, and $1.048 in the committee bill.

This would mean by comparison with the present tariff law a reduction of roughly 25 cents at the outset, 25 cents in 1915 and 37 cents in 1915. On 10 degrees sugar from sources other than Cuba the Broussard amendment would make a net reduction from the present rates of 37 1/2 cents per hundred pounds on passage of the bill, 55 cents in 1915 and 62 cents in 1915. The pending tariff bill's rate is 54 cents.

Would Extend Period

Another Broussard amendment would extend the period of grace under which the contemplated free sugar basis was to be reached within three years to a total of four years, so as to carry the whole question beyond the next national election.

Representatives Howard of Georgia, Gard of Ohio and others ineffectually sought to have machine tools put on the free list, while Representative Hensley of Missouri led a vain fight against the reduction of the duty on lead. Some of the democrats urged free zinc in place of the 10 per cent duty.

The wood schedule was quickly disposed of by the caucus. An amendment by Representative Baker of California to transfer having posts, railroad ties and telegraph, telegraph and other poles to the free list, in place of proposed 10 per cent duty, was voted down.

Last night Democratic Leader Underwood said the caucus would not be able to get through the bill for several days, and that its consideration by the house probably will not begin for another week.

Hundreds of protests against the rates in the proposed tariff are reaching members of the senate, where advocates of higher protection apparently have determined to centre their attack. The senate finance committee spent three hours yesterday in conference over the house bill, and with the aid of treasury experts went through the metal and earthenware schedules. Several small changes in duties were practically agreed upon but the committee will take no formal action on any features of the bill until after it has passed the house.

SUCCESSFUL WHIST

Large Attendance at Notre Dame de Lourdes Parochial School Hall Last Evening

A largely attended whist party was given at the Notre Dame de Lourdes parochial school last night for the benefit of the parish. The affair was organized by Messrs. Charles P. Hebert, Ferdinand Piche, Rodolphe Levesque and Hector Gandette and was very successful. Charles Branchaud presided over the gathering and at the close of the whist tournament suitable prizes were awarded the winners. Rodolphe Daignault recited several pieces which were well received. Mollie Ives rendered several pleasing vocal selections. The scores were Mrs. C. E. Branchaud, Misses Marie Hebert, Marie Anne Richard, Lena Ducharme, Marie Louise Dumas, Diana Desmarais, Albert Perrin, Bartha Gellinas and Anna Boudreau. The judges were Messrs. ## WAS INJURED IN QUARRY

Industrial Accident Board
Gives Hearing

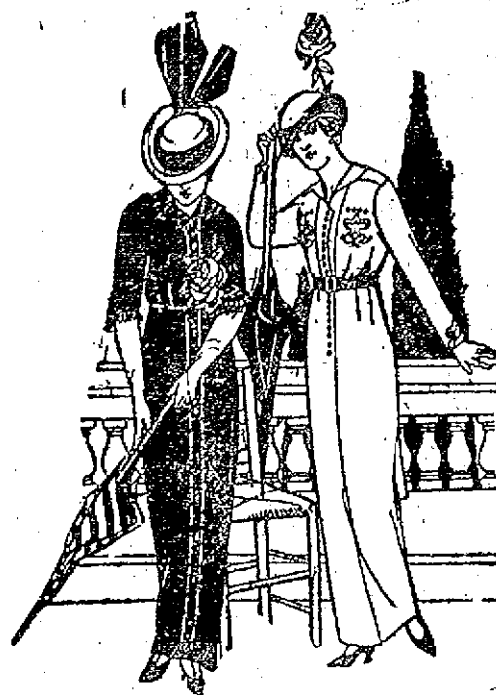

The industrial accident board gave a hearing yesterday in the town hall in Chelmsford in the case of John Belida, who was injured while employed at the quarry of H. E. Fletcher Co., in West Chelmsford, July 3, 1912. His right foot was badly injured by a stone which fell upon it and Mr. Belida was dissatisfied with the amount offered by the insurance company. Through his counsel, John W. McEvoy, he asked for a hearing before the industrial accident board. The hearing was before Hon. David T. Dickinson, representing the board, and Mr. Snow, representing the insurance company, and Daniel J. Donahue, Esq., who constituted the board of arbitration. The board conferred after the hearing and will render a decision later. Drs. Robertson and Pillsbury were witnesses.

THE LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

To be Made State School for Instruction in Dyeing—It Surpasses in This Line

The resolve appropriating $7.3 for additional equipment at the Bradford Durfee Textile school, Fall River, was rejected by the house of representatives this week. Before the vote was taken the house listened to a most interesting debate on the resolve, the state board of education being condemned for its position. Rep. Benjamin Ferring declared that the ways and means committee, which had recommended that the resolve be rejected, had acted wholly upon the misinformation given it by the state board of education.

The very important suggestion was made, during the course of the discussion, that in the near future the general court may decide that all instructions in dyeing shall be given at the Lowell Textile school.

It was stated by Rep. Haines of Medford, chairman of the committee on education, which originally reported the resolve, that the Fall River school is the only one that has been living within its appropriations, and yet, despite that fact, the state board of education reported that it has done better educational work than either of the other schools and at a lower per capita cost than either of the others. He declared, however, that the Fall River school could not compete with the Lowell school unless it is given the equipment requested.

Lowell Textile School
Representative Crocker of Boston, chairman of the ways and means committee, suggested that the state board of education had recommended that all of the instruction in dyeing at present being given by the textile schools should be given at the Lowell school, because of the facilities provided there, and he thought it would be a grave mistake if the legislature were now to authorize the establishment of such a course at the Fall River school when in the near future the general court may decide that all of this instruction shall be given at Lowell.

IRISH NAT'L FORESTERS

Intend to Win Banner for
New Membership

Branch O'Neil Crowley, No. 598, held a well attended meeting at Leather Workers' hall, Chief Ranger James Cryan presiding. The quarterly report of the financial secretary was read showing the branch to be in a good financial condition and also added fifty new members during the quarter. Resolutions of sympathy were read and adopted on the death of Brothers O'Connell and Brady, and the sympathy of the branch was extended to their bereaved families. Five new members were initiated. A communication was read from the S. H. C. R. Martin E. Joyce of Boston to announce the fact that he will present a beautiful silk flag or banner, with the emblem of the order, to the branch initiating the greatest number of candidates during the year 1913. After the regular business there was a social hour. Refreshments were kindly donated by Brother John Fernald. There were songs by J. P. C. R. Patrick Linehan, Dennis Madden, John Scullion, Richard Murtagh and Billy Burke. It was the general opinion of the members present that Branch O'Neil Crowley would have no difficulty in winning that banner.

INVESTIGATORS BROKE UP SHOW

Entered a Chicago Wineroom
Where Carabet Was in Full Blast

CHICAGO, April 12.—While the cabaret was in full blast, the investigators of the Illinois senatorial vice commission entered two downtown restaurants and a wineroom in the Tenderloin at midnight and brought performers, managers and guests to the Hotel Lasalle for interrogation at a session which lasted until two o'clock this morning.

From some of them the investigators drew reluctant admissions that a few of the songs and dances "might be" suggestive and "perhaps" had a bad effect upon the diners.

A girl singer, crying as she testified, asserted she never would sing "In My Harlem," a song Lieutenant Governor O'Hara was particularly inquisitive about. The manager of a well known restaurant said the restaurant business had degenerated into a vaudeville show and he did not know when it would stop.

Worms in Children.

By Dr. True

If mothers only knew the tortures the little ones may suffer from worms!

Thousands of children have stomach worms or pin worms and their parents do not know it. They doctor them for other ailments.

Signs of worms are:

Indigestion, with a variable appetite; abnormal craving for sweets; nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue; offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and in a few cases the face takes on a dull leaden hue. Eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow fever; pulse quickened and irregular; body maybe hot and often, in children, convulsions.

Don't delay! Delays are dangerous. Give the children at once some of Dr. True's Elixir. Directions on the bottle. Sold by all dealers at 35c, 50c and $1.00. Thousands of grateful mothers have given my Dr. True's Elixir to sick children and restored them to health.

Improper Song

After investigators and members of a "slumping" party said they had heard an improper song in a place on 21st street the commission voted to recommend to Mayor Harrison that the cafe's license be revoked and will call the attention of the state's attorney to the testimony of the manager who said nothing indecent went on.

Senator Beall said he saw girls not more than 15 or 16 drinking mixed drinks in the cafe and some of them were more or less intoxicated.

Did the "Bear" Dance

O. R. Stinson, manager of a downtown restaurant asserted the business had drifted into a show but he was compelled to put up a first class cabaret to get the trade. He was of the opinion that some popular songs had gone too far and said he did not allow "In My Harlem" to be sung in his restaurant. He said guests did the "bear" dance in the aisles between the tables but that they never got indecent.

An entertainer in this restaurant said there was nothing out of the way in the song "All Night Long."

"It's all in the way you sing it," she stated, "some people are so weak minded they will take up anything."

At two o'clock the hearing adjourned until ten o'clock.

LOWELL'S 680 POUND WOMAN

Flossie Ouellette Wants to Go on the Road

Mrs. Flossie Ouellette, a resident of this city, who is reputed to be the fattest and the heaviest woman in the world, tipping the scales at 680 pounds, desires to be engaged, and here is an opportunity for some one. Flossie does not want to be engaged for any matrimonial venture, for she had one husband who died 15 years ago, and although he was as good a man as she could expect, Mrs. Ouellette says she will never again be bothered with a man as a life companion.

What Flossie wants now is an engagement to go on the road, and she will be ready at two weeks' notice. She now makes her home at 27 Cheever street, this city, and is enjoying the best of health, despite her enormous weight. She returned last September from Chicago, where she spent the summer months. She could have remained there, but ever since she traveled the stalwart woman has always made it her business to come to Lowell during the cold weather.

In conversation with the writer Mrs. Ouellette said she believes her weight is increasing, for she eats more than she ever did. She eats three good square meals every day, and although she is carrying 680 pounds of solid flesh, she is still able to attend to her household with the exception of the laundry. Of course she has to get other people to lace her shoes, but as far as work is concerned, providing there is not too much stooping, to be done, Flossie is there with the goods.

She is 48 years of age, is five feet nine inches tall, and her measurement around the shoulders is seven feet. Her waist is five feet and eight inches in circumference, while her arms measure 32 inches. During her last engagement Mrs. Ouellette was with a company composed of another fat woman weighing about 400 pounds, a woman skeleton measuring seven feet and a 28 inch woman.

MRS. FLOSSIE OUELLETTE

She refused another engagement with the same people, for she prefers traveling alone. Last year she was also on exhibition at Stone's theatre in Boston and during her sojourn in the Hub met thousands of people.

Mrs. Ouellette expressed a desire to have a look at Lowell from the top of The Sun building and she was invited to call on any bright day, take the elevator and ask to be taken to the roof. She expressed a doubt as to the safety of the elevator with her as a passenger but was told that either of the elevators could carry four women like her without an effort.

PARKS AND COMMONS

New Superintendent Will
Develop Plans

FOR IMPROVEMENT OF PARKS AND
COMMONS

Work of Department Depends Upon
Amount of Money Appropriated—
Some New Suggestions

The new superintendent of parks, John W. Kernan, is getting a line on the parks, commons and playgrounds, and will have things moving in a little while. Mr. Kernan, in company with Park Commissioners Greene and Rountree, made a tour of the parks and commons Wednesday afternoon, and while certain things were outlined, no definite plan for the year's work has yet been arrived at. The men employed on the gypsy moth work will finish up this week, and the men who have been engaged in this work will be put on general park work.

JOHN W. KERNAN

These men are well trained in the work, and Mr. Kernan said today that the department work would start with a general clean-up of the parks and commons. Mr. Kernan says that while he had a pretty good idea of the playground work he did not realize the magnitude of it. He is very much interested in playgrounds and thinks that the commons in the heart of the city cannot receive too much attention. "The work of the department this year," said Mr. Kernan, today, "will depend upon the amount of money that the municipal council will see fit to appropriate. I feel that there is a splendid opportunity for the development of the park and playground system, and I am very much interested in the work. I have some ideas in mind that I think will work out all right. I have some plans and suggestions that I will lay before the commission at its next meeting."

Mr. Kernan, with the consent of the park commission, will plant soft maple trees on either side of the park leading from the jail to the centre of the South commons.

At the present time the park department is cleaning out the pond at Shedd park. The water service there has become blocked and it will require a few days to straighten matters out. There are boys at Fort Hill park who insist upon playing ball on the green and near the flower beds instead of on the grounds set aside for that purpose. Mr. Kernan has had to drive the boys off on several occasions, and he says he will probably have to take the matter up with the superintendent of police. The covering is being taken from the tulip beds and the flowers must be protected.

Asked relative to the development of a new park, Mr. Kernan said that while the proposition was a big one, he allowed that considerable expense could be spared by a little ingenuity, so to speak. Instead of sinking or burying the big rocks in the park, Mr. Kernan thinks that a portable crusher could be used and that the rocks and stones crushed could be sold to the street department. This department is always in need of crushed stone and sometimes indulges in lous hauls from Dracont and other places. At a later date Mr. Kernan will submit an outline of park department work for the year.

FROGS' LEGS WERE SEIZED

192 Quarts Taken From
Cold Storage

NEW YORK, April 12.—One hundred and ninety-two quarts of frogs' legs were seized at cold storage houses yesterday by agents of the state conservation commission and smaller quantities at several restaurants.

The raid was the commission's way of serving notice that it intended to enforce strictly the new law prohibiting the taking, buying, selling or possession of "bullfrogs, green frogs or spring frogs" during the spawning months, April and May.

RECOGNITION OF CHINA

As a Republic by the
United States

NEW REPUBLIC ISSUES DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

President Wilson and Cabinet Enthusiastically Praise Tone of Document Received

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Chinese declaration of independence, which took the form of an address to the world, was called here from Peking yesterday and after being read in the cabinet meeting was made public. State department officials declared that it reflected the influence of the young Chinese members who have been educated in American colleges. The president and his cabinet praised it enthusiastically, and formal recognition of the republic by the United States awaits only the actual organization of the government, which will be decided again today in Peking. The text of the address follows:

"On the eighth day of the fourth month in the second year of the republic of China, the date fixed for the first opening of our permanent national assembly, the members of the senate and the house of representatives, having met in these halls to celebrate this event, now make this declaration of their sentiments.

"The will of heaven is manifested through the will of the people. The hundreds of millions of the people possess the authority of the state; it is not proclaimed now for the first time. The monarchy, so long corrupt, proved unworthy of the grave responsibilities entrusted to it by the will of the people; but with the introduction of popular government, the representatives of the people must share the likes and dislikes of the people. They are to give expression to the desires and voice the will of the people; they hold the reins in behalf of the nation to govern with severity or leniency, with parsimony or extravagance; they become the pivot upon which the prosperity of the state is made to turn. For the success or failure, safety or danger, adversity or good fortune, theirs is the merit or the blame.

"Can we be otherwise than anxious? Yet, through great tribulation the spring comes to prosperity and our very bad management and anxieties are a means to happiness. Now, therefore, we unite to form this assembly and presume to publish our aspirations. May ours be a just government. May our five races lay aside their prejudices. May rain and sunshine bring bounteous harvest and cause the husbandman to rejoice.

"May the scholar be happy in his home and the merchant conduct his trade in peace. May no duty of government be unfulfilled and no hidden wound go undressed. Thus may the glory be spread abroad and these our words be echoed far and wide, that those in distant lands who hear may give us praise, and may the new life of the old nation be lasting and unending. Who of us can dare to be negligent of his duty?"

Peru and Mexico already have recognized China and the Brazilian ambassador said yesterday his country was ready to welcome China to the family of nations and was only awaiting action by the United States in compliance with the request of Secretary Bryan for concerted action.

GOMPERS IN HOSPITAL

Head of A. F. of Labor is
Seriously Ill

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is confined in a hospital here threatened with mastoiditis.

For several weeks he has suffered considerable pain and yesterday he was taken to the hospital for constant attention and complete rest from his work.

Mastoiditis is an inflammation of the mastoid bone, the inside of which contains the mastoid cells—irregular shaped cavities connecting with the middle ear. It is the bone prominent below and behind the opening of the ear.

FAVORS MERIT SYSTEM

Bryan Friendly to Plan
of Appointment

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Secretary of State Bryan let it be known today that he is friendly to the merit system of appointment, promotion and tenure in the consular service.

In public utterances made while he was still a private citizen but based upon personal contact with the American consular officers in various parts of the world Mr. Bryan has not failed to express his admiration of the service as a whole and of the personnel. Now he has announced he was inclined to have regard for civil service principles so far as the consular service was concerned and that consuls who had entered the service in accordance with these principles were unlikely to be disturbed.

POLICE AUTO ASSAILED

Showered With Stones
by Mill Strikers

EMPTY STREET CARS AT MILFORD ALSO STONED

No Arrests Made—None Injured—Threats of Violence Made—Armed Guard Increased

MILFORD, April 12.—Despite the vigorous precautions taken by the state and local police last night to guard against any repetition of the violence which resulted Thursday night in the riddling of a street car by bullets and the wounding of a passenger, there were further disturbances on the part of the men out on strike from the Draper company plant in Hopedale.

An automobile filled with officers was showered with stones as it passed through the "Palms" district of this town, and although no one was injured the machine was much damaged. A few minutes later two street cars, both empty, were made the target for volleys of rocks in the hands of a mob of 500 strikers, which hooped and shouted in derision at other autos filled with police.

No arrests were made.

The trouble started about 7 o'clock. Each car carrying employees from the Draper plant was guarded by police, while autos carrying more officers followed. The cars were allowed to pass through Milford on their way to adjacent towns without molestation.

On the return trip, though, the mob had become incensed. Threats of violence were made openly, and when one of the police autos came in view the crowd rushed upon it. Missiles of every sort were hurled at the officers, and only the fact that the machine was covered, saved them from injury. As it was, several stones crashed through the heavy canvas and the hood of the car was battered and mangled.

Armed Guards at Mills

The machine continued on its way without stopping and the strikers turned upon two empty cars entering the town on East Main street. Stones were hurled at them and practically every window in both was smashed. Armed guards were stationed in even greater numbers about the Draper plant last night and every factory and public building in this town and Hopedale was watched by the police. The residents are fearful that the shooting of last night was only the first of many scenes of violence that may grow out of the present situation.

A PUBLIC MARKET

The meeting held at city hall on Wednesday evening on the public market question brings the matter at last positively before the people of the city, and demonstrates that the movement, which is country wide in its operation, promises to find a definite expression here in a very short time. Although such markets, even as municipal ventures, owned and conducted by the city, have been operating successfully in some of the principal cities of America, there seems to be a slight misunderstanding and feeling of mistrust among some sections of the local public against its adoption, even in its simplest form of a public market. If the opinions expressed at the city hall meeting may be taken as an indication of public feeling, it is evident that the farmers of the surrounding towns are heartily in favor of a public market here. On realizing its functions and possibilities there will also be a responsive approval from the mass of the people. The only objection seems to come from the storekeepers who, without realizing the matter in its true light, fear a possible injury to business from the adoption of such a scheme.

The time is ripe for the establishing of a public market in Lowell. Many of its aspects must be regulated by time and although no one can accurately foretell its ultimate form and scope, the need of the present is the setting apart of some definite area where the farmers could bring their produce to a central market and sell direct to the retailer and to those of the people who might wish to avail of the opportunity to buy more satisfactorily. As was brought out at the public hearing, the present system has many disadvantages. Farmers are now obliged to become peddlers and to take their goods from store to store, making the buying and selling of farm produce a haphazard and unsystematized process. So unsatisfactory are our arrangements that many of the larger farmers in our immediate vicinity send their goods to Boston, realizing that they can do business there more advantageously. With the adoption of a public market system the principle of competition would be established among the farmers, and they would naturally find it necessary to keep the prices as low as would be consistent with a fair profit. The retailer would be able to keep his market supplied with all the fruits and vegetables of the season instead of partly depending on circumstance as he is frequently compelled to do under the present unsatisfactory arrangements.

In cities of the west, Des Moines for instance, which we have copied in our new charter, public markets have resulted in reducing the high cost of living. In this matter the city has a chance to show initiative and enterprise. A street or open area, centrally located, could be set apart; perhaps a simple building might be erected, and low rentals charged to cover the necessary outlay and maintenance. Such a market should then be thrown open to all farmers, the lesser as well as the greater, and the people of the city would have a chance to get what they need at the lowest market price. This market while proving a genuine boon to the public would not injure any particular class so that there is actually nothing in the way except the definite plan and the moderate expense of carrying it into effect.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

As the financial markets are the barometers which register the general prosperity of a country, a review of the American financial situation at the present time, when tariff revision is imminent, will give a fairly accurate idea of the result of the proposed measure on the future outlook of the country. Although there is some hoarding of money apparent, the stringency is not confined to America, as the same tendency is noticeable abroad. All during the war there was a possibility of some of the great nations being embroiled in the struggle and this fact resulted in a spirit of world wide unrest and a slight degree of caution. Now when peace seems but a matter of a few weeks, it is expected that there will be a tremendous amount of readjustment and rebuilding and that American securities and manufactures will be largely benefited. It is evident that the coming of the new democratic administration has not had any injurious effect on the financial situation of the country. Undoubtedly the personality of President Wilson has had much to do with the general confidence, for he has always impressed business men favorably, and he is gaining strength at every new declaration of his future policies. The fact that he is to take an active part in the framing of the new tariff laws will ensure a further spirit of optimism and security, as his views have always been consistent with good business policies. He has been most frank and sincere in his declarations, and business men and financiers, if not generally co-operating with him, are not openly hostile. Now that his relations with congress are known to be most cordial, one of the critical periods of his administration has been passed satisfactorily, and the legislation of the near future will be awaited with interest but not with that sense of impending calamity predicted by some who announced their vain desires rather than their honest convictions. The financial aspect of the country seems also to be reassured by the declaration of the president for a coming reform in our money system. When the tariff question is settled this will be the next measure of importance. The announcement of the president met with no dissenting voice for it is generally conceded that our monetary system is antiquated and much in need of being modernized. It will be remembered that the president declared his intention of studying the present system thoroughly, and of seeking expert advice, before recommending any definite departure. This fact ought to convince the people that his views are not radical and that business will not be disturbed by the methods which he will eventually recommend. In the Chinese loan question both he and the secretary of state showed splendid judgment, which has been universally commended, and the good sense displayed in this financial transaction augurs well for a just and safe policy in the financial matters of this country.

HOUSING AMBASSADORS

If the measure introduced by Senator Bacon of Georgia, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and now before congress, becomes law, America may in future be spared the humiliation of asking our wealthy men the favor of representing her at the foreign courts. Selection of ambassadors at the present time taken on this aspect. Recognizing the fact that a complete reorganization of the system and the building of foreign embassies would entail a vast expenditure at the present time, the bill suggests that the government rent and furnish suitable dwellings in the foreign capitals, more or less elaborate according to the requirements of the service. It also provides means by which permanent buildings may eventually be erected, thus removing one of the greatest difficulties of the present perplexing and unsatisfactory diplomatic service question.

The general dignity of America, the particular dignity of diplomatic usage, the character of the office, have all demanded a change in the present system, and the bill of Senator Bacon seems to meet the situation satisfactorily. Formerly the provisions made for our ambassadors were wholly inadequate, and as the upholding of sumptuous establishments and the giving of lavish entertainments were found necessary both because of precedent and exigencies of the times, it is not surprising that the president found it difficult to obtain suitable representatives to serve in the great capitals of the world. As such a condition of affairs must be particularly offensive to the patriotic and democratic nature of the president, the bill will undoubtedly get his support, which is the strongest factor in national legislation at the present time, and America will thus gain much credit in international affairs.

DR. FRIEDMANN

If time has not yet fully justified the claims of Dr. Friedmann as to the discovery of an alleged cure for tuberculosis, it has at least demonstrated that he has been actuated by sincere, honorable and legitimate motives and that he has been unjustly subjected to much criticism and abuse which has been heaped upon him by some eminent physicians since he came to this country. On reflection, it must be apparent that his motives are considered above suspicion in his own country for, if not, a storm of protest would have followed him from members of the German medical profession who would strongly resent being represented here by a fake practitioner. There is always more or less professional jealousy of any doctor who claims to have made a valuable remedy and until he has demonstrated the efficacy of his cure, he must expect criticism.

Although the time has not been sufficiently long as yet for a thorough test, reports from the patients treated by the German specialist are reassuring. He is now practicing in the state of Rhode Island, at the invitation of Governor Peltier. One of the first persons to greet him there was a Providence girl whom he had treated in New York and who is now apparently cured. He has also been given the privilege, for the first time in America, of accepting fees for his services but he has done much charitable work in public institutions, and he has not made any charge in the case of poor individuals in private treatments. If Dr. Friedmann's cure is certain, he will be known as one of the greatest benefactors of the human race.

Seen and Heard

"They say that Mrs. Waddington's little boy is ambidextrous," said Mrs. O'Brien.

"And so?" exclaimed Mrs. Gottlieb. "Is that so? Ain't it too bad? They expected he was going to be all right after they got his tonsils cut out."

All was quiet. For an hour the husband had been reading a life of Napoleon with close attention. Suddenly, with a great idea, he said to his wife: "Do you know what I'd have done if I had been Napoleon?"

"Yes," she answered. "You'd have settled down in Corlaen and spent your life grubbing about had luck and hard times."

H. Atterbury Smith, who, with his open-stairway plan, promises to revolutionize the tenement house, said in New York: "The open-stairway tenement with its abundance of sunshine and fresh air, will make a tenement apartment actually a home. The tenement dweller of the future needn't feel like Captain Jack."

"I've sailed the seas for 57 years," Capt. Salt, a seasoned old shellback, boasted. "Don't you ever get homesick, captain?"

"Homesick? No homesick!" said Capt. Salt. "No sir! I ain't home enough for that!"

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

What is success? A question old and new, and one that leads to higher life and conduct grand and true. The full unfoldment of one's best qualities, the highest good, Of how the world may criticize Or deny, our right.

What is success? To shape our course Among our fellow-men In paths which lead them to the truth That lies beyond their ken, And reach a helping hand to those Who falter in their zeal, And pour the balm of sympathy In wounds which slowly heal.

What is success? To stifle hate And lust and selfish greed, While with the fruits of hope and love The multitude we feed; And spread our faith, our charities, As heaven's bright sun shines forth, Until they vitalize man's brotherhood And circumscribe the earth.

What is success? To strive each day To make Love's kingdom come, To exile tyranny, greed, and fear, And teach that all is one; That however we drift apart Through caste, or class, or clan, The hand of kindness will be back And bind us man to man.

"Children are not to be called stupid just because they fail to notice things and to grasp opportunities that appear plain to their elders," writes a school teacher. "Show a three-year-old child a picture of a person without arms and the child will not notice anything wrong with the picture. A six-year-old child will notice it."

"I teach one of the lower grades in a public school. The other day I had a class in arithmetic put down the Roman numerals from 1 to 12. To my great surprise the most backward child in the room was the first to finish the task and his paper was absolutely correct. This boy was considered dull."

And yet is her girlhood garnered Away from the shadows of blue, From the dreamy days of childhood, Her reward is an atom of profits her pitiful hands have amassed And saved while a girl will last.

COSTS AND PROFIT

She told where the dark walls shuddered and the pulleys groaned and cracked.

Where the oil-soaked floors were throbbing, and the swift belts screamed and whirled, and the sunbeams never gladdened her heart, nor the heavy air, Nor the fragrance of wind-blown meadows ever stole to greet her there.

And she sighed and her soul was weary as she led the thing of steel, That crunched at her heel, foot's heel.

And as a monster furnished, it loomed in the dust-filled gloom, Pitiless, ruthless and soulless, though its bulk o'ershadowed Doom.

And she toiled and her wage was a pittance and scarce of a dollar a day.

For as she toiled must be burdened that man at his pleasure play, And spirits as hers must be broken by the cogs that are ground and sped.

That thousands be pined on thousands at the costs of the hearts that bleed.

For man that he add on profit conceived and planned full well, The power and skill of a monster to endure when a man's strength fell.

And all it needed was watching and the eyes of a girl are keen, And the strength of a child's frail body will add to the golden heap.

Her face was stained and hollowed, and her eyes were dulled with the longing for the twilight's rest and the peace of the night.

For the space at the end of her labors in the stifling heat or the cold, The stupor of the south, ere its time, grows old.

And yet is her girlhood garnered Away from the shadows of blue, From the dreamy days of childhood, Her reward is an atom of profits her pitiful hands have amassed And saved while a girl will last.

olive them a parade by the fire department, or some other attraction, and put on a tree for the children. A special train of two from Wilton and Concord could bring a lot of people; also one from Lowell and Manchester. There is a fine chance for the merchants to show their sporting blood. Save the Trees Manchester Mirror: The farmer's boy starts out on one of these mild days of early spring to see if his fences are standing. Following along the scraggly old brush fence that some shiftless farmhand laid he finds various gaps.

A few strokes with his keen and shiny axe and a hundred or two nice young oak, maple or chestnut trees have been slaughtered. The fence is tight for one more year. But a future land account has been sacrificed.

Swat the Fly Lawrence Telegram: We are pleased at the action of the board of health in deciding to start at once upon an anti-fly campaign. This is the time to start.

Every torpid fly slowly coming to life in the spring may mean a myriad disseminators of disease a few months from now. Therefore the wisdom of killing flies early in the season.

The flies of the country can come as near exterminating flies as the government has come to exterminating the malaria and yellow fever carrying mosquito at Panama.

Encourage the Farmer Portland Express: We cannot give the farmer enough science and learning, nor enough comfort and entertainment. He will profit, and we all will, by every word of it that he gets.

One of these days we will wake up to the real importance of this. Vermont has already waked up. It is an example to us all. Our population has been increasing a good deal faster than the acreage that supports it. There is one of the chief causes of the high cost of living. If we do not, of our own accord, do something to help the farmer, we shall soon enough be driven to it by the rising cost of daily necessities.

If we do not voluntarily accord him the distinction, the day is coming when we shall have to regard him as the most important business man in the community.

California and Japan Lynn News: California seems determined to make trouble between herself and Japan, and as a natural consequence between the United States and Japan. The report seems to be authoritative enough that an alien law prohibiting Japanese and other foreigners who are not eligible to citizenship from owning or leasing land in the state will be passed at the session of the legislature, with the backing of Governor Johnson, one-time candidate for the vice presidency, and his friends. If Mr. Roosevelt deals as promptly with Mr. Johnson as he did, as president, with contemplated action by the state about six years ago, the governor is likely to have some unpleasant reading before long.

LOCAL MILL MEN
TALK ON TARIFFA. G. Cumnock Says New Rate
Would Effect Color Work—
Hosiery Rushing

Mill men of this city as a whole do not seem to fancy the new tariff bill as proposed, but nevertheless they are not ready yet to speak on the subject. The writer called on a number of mill agents this forenoon in order to get a statement as to their views on the tariff bill, and in some cases he was referred to the treasurer of the company, while in other cases the mill men were not ready to speak on the subject, but they believed radical changes will be made in the proposed bill, so that the New England manufacturers would not be so much affected.

At the Saco-Lowell shops, according to the superintendent, business is uncertain and will be until the matter of the proposed tariff bill is settled one way or the other. The other mills, however, are not anticipating any decrease in their production until the matter is finally settled.

The Appleton Mills

Mr. A. G. Cumnock, treasurer of the Appleton Co., when seen this morning, said it is too early to talk tariff at present. He said he wants more information concerning the proposed bill and accordingly wrote to Mr. Underwood relative to dye stuff. "We specialize in that particular line of work," continued Mr. Cumnock, "and at the present we are getting ready to put out several new patented colors, which are imported, and that is why we would like to know just how the matter stands. The bill as drawn will surely affect the local cotton mills about 10 per cent., and about 12 1/2 per cent on goods that have coloring."

Mr. Cumnock concluded by saying that he hopes the bill will be modified to some extent, especially on the articles concerning cotton and wool. He said the proposed bill is being studied carefully, and he may be able to say more about it at some near future date.

Business is very good at the Appleton mill. The new plant of the company, which was erected some time ago, adjoining the office building, is now running full blast with some 350 help. The company was compelled to build this addition on account of rearrangements in the mill. Machines were moved from old into all parts of the mill, and finally it was decided to build the addition, which is a fine and well lighted structure. The power for the new plant is being supplied from the same source as for the old mills.

Saco-Lowell Shops

"Business is in suspense here and very uncertain," said Superintendent Thompson of the Saco-Lowell shops this morning. "and undoubtedly will remain in this stage until the new tariff bill is either passed or rejected. Then," continued Mr. Thompson, "business will resume on a new basis."

"The new tariff bill will be passed as drawn affect considerably the Saco-Lowell shops and other industries of this kind in this part of the country," said Mr. Thompson, "as the manufacturers will be forced to compete with foreign industry." The company for some time has been planning the erection of a new foundry and core house, but there is nothing definite as to plans of the new building, and it may be abandoned entirely. The shop is running full time but there seems to be a drawback with the orders, as though everybody is awaiting the outcome of the proposed tariff bill.

The Lawrence Mfg. Co.

Agent Walker of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. refused to discuss the tariff bill this morning, but said business is very good at the hosiery. The company is now contemplating the erection of a new storehouse, and work will be started on the same by the first of the month.

Mr. Walker paid a tribute to the memory of the late Henry W. Folsom, one of the overseers of the hosiery who passed away yesterday after an illness of only a couple of days, deceased having succumbed to an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Walker said Mr. Folsom had been an employee of the Lawrence hosiery for the past forty years, and served the said company as overseer of the knitting department for the past 25 years. "Mr. Folsom," said Mr. Walker, "was one of our best men and his demise will be keenly felt by both the officials of the company and those employed by him. He was a faithful employee and a man who understood his business thoroughly. He was well liked and was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and his premature death is a sad blow to all who had any dealings with him."

GREEKS WILL CELEBRATE

Independence Day on June 3rd

Greek Independence day which fell on April 7, will be observed in a fitting manner by the Sons of Athens of this city on June 3. The celebration, which is an important one in the Greek colony, is generally held on the date of only, but this year it was postponed on account of the sudden death of King George I.

On June 3, the national mourning in honor of the late king will be suspended for twenty-four hours, and the event which will also be King Constantine day will be observed probably with a parade and entertainment. There will be special services in the church and the Greek district will be the place of much rejoicing.

A week from tomorrow will be Palm Sunday in the Greek church and special services will be held on that day, when palms will be blessed. The following week will be one of fasting and devotion as it will be Holy Week, and already great preparations are being made for the celebration of Easter Sunday, which is a great event among the Orthodox Greek.

POPE'S CONDITION
REGARDED GRAVE

ROME, April 12.—Late this afternoon the pope was informed by the physicians in attendance that the tracheal bronchitis is due to traumatic acid getting in the upper part of the tracheal tube instead of to infectious inflammation.

The sisters of the pope, who had believed him entirely out of danger, were deeply impressed by the relapse and gave way to their feelings. They then resumed their nursing of the patient.

A group of people gathered on the steps of St. Peter's gazing at the windows of the pope's apartments, noticed that the blinds of his bedroom were closed this afternoon.

The Osservatore Romano, the vatican official newspaper publishes this evening the following bulletin:

"On April 7 the pope fell ill with a relapse of influenza, with symptoms of tracheal bronchitis. The fever stopped three days ago but returned today with aggravation of catarrh in the thorax. There are no symptoms to cause alarm."

CONDITION OF POPE IS CONSIDERED
GRAVE ON ACCOUNT OF WEAKNESS

ROME, April 12.—The condition of the pope is regarded as grave, especially on account of his weakness. The relapse is not yet generally known even among the vatican officials.

Only the sisters and the niece of the pope were notified of the relapse. They drove hurriedly to the vatican from the apartment in the vicinity where they reside.

RELAPSE OF POPE PREDICTED BY PROF. MARCHIAFAVA THIS MORNING

ROME, April 12.—Professor Marchiafava this morning predicted a relapse when he heard that, contrary to his instructions, the pope had been allowed to grant private audiences. He said: "If you want to kill him, this is the way to do it."

CARDINAL MERRY DEL VAL SAYS
POPE HAS DIFFICULTY IN BREATHING

ROME, April 12.—Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal secretary of state, said shortly after noon that the appearance of the pope was unsatisfactory; that he looked more haggard and weaker and the difficulty in his breathing had augmented.

Cardinal Merry Del Val communicated this bad impression to his own father, the Marquis Merry Del Val, late Spanish ambassador to the vatican and now on a visit to Rome, who, together with his wife and daughter, called this afternoon at the vatican to write his name in the visitors' book in the pope's ante chamber.

DEFEAT AMENDMENTS
TO SUGAR TARIFFHouse Democrats Voted Down
Changes Proposed by Rep.
Broussard of Louisiana

WASHINGTON, April 12.—By an overwhelming majority, the house democratic caucus today voted down amendments to the sugar tariff schedule proposed by Rep. Broussard of Louisiana and supported by members from the sugar states to eliminate the provision for free sugar in three years and provide an immediate ten per cent. reduction to be followed by gradual reductions for six years. The vote against it was 16 to 55.

VIGOROUS STAND AGAINST PROVISION FOR FREE RAW SUGAR

WASHINGTON, April 12.—House democrats today began their fight over the sugar tariff schedule. Opponents of the administration rates as proposed in the Underwood bill began a vigorous stand against the provision for free raw sugar in three years. Representatives from Louisiana, led by Rep. Broussard and aided by members from Michigan and other beet sugar states assailed the duties approved by the ways and means committee and President Wilson as ruinous to the sugar industry in these states.

Chairman Underwood began the argument in defense of the schedule, detailing the long careful study the committee had given to the sugar question. Amendments proposed by Rep. Broussard were opposed by the flat free sugar champions led by Rep. Hardwick of Georgia who offered an amendment that raw sugar be placed on the free list at once.

Rep. Broussard's first amendment proposed a cut on 96 per cent. sugar from Cuba of 20 cents per hundredweight at the outset, 30 cents in 1915 and 37 cents in 1919. On 100 per cent. sugar his amendment would make a cut in the rate of 37 1/2 cents per hundredweight now, 50 cents in 1916, and 62 cents in 1919.

Another amendment proposed was to extend the period of grace for free sugar to four years, thus throwing it beyond the next national campaign when the question could again be publicly discussed.

DEMAND FOR PUBLIC MARKET

Local Business Men Believe it
Would be of Great Benefit to the Public at Large

Civic economists of Lowell have brought that universally agitated question of the high cost of living down to a local problem and as a material solution, have advanced the idea of the organizing of a public market. With the apparent, constant increase in the cost of necessities, there has been an accompanying multiplication of theoretical solutions. Theory, however, has failed to effect a reduction and the suggestion and recommendation to the municipal council some time ago by the board of trade has been approved and applauded by nearly all parties from the producer to the consumer. This proposal has been perhaps the most practical of all the improvements which the citizens have been given to consider.

Very little investigation is required that one may become aware of the advantages of having a public market and a little thought and the consid-

Arthur Gauthier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gauthier, and Miss Marie Mathilda Robitaille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nos Robitaille.

The first and third couples will be married on Sunday, the second on Monday and the fourth on Tuesday.

FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Fund for Relief Augmented By Recent Contributions—Sale By Young People Brought $25

The list of contributors for the relief of the flood sufferers is growing rapidly and bringing a marked increase in the fund. At the Old Lowell bank there has been realized the sum of $144.75. One of the most important and recent contributions is that of $25 from the young people of the Highlands who conducted a novel sale. The committee in charge of this event was as follows:

Catherine Goodale, Dorothy Burrage, Elizabeth Goodale, Dorothy Stevens, Vera Welch, Dorothy Whitley Butler Burrage.

Yesterday's statement from the Old Lowell bank was:

Previously acknowledged ..... $110.75
J. L. Cushing ..... 1.00
J. L. Cushing ..... 5.00
Highland sale ..... 25.00

Total ..... $144.75

The fund for the benefit of the flood sufferers has been increased by about $25 or $30 by the contributions of the members of the Highlands school of this city who responded nobly when it was announced that it was the intention of the school authorities to aid the victims. There are several of the girls whose homes are in the vicinity of the flood and they were instrumental in starting this fund.

MORGAN'S BODY IN HOME

Lies Among Art Treasures of Library

NEW YORK, April 12.—The body of J. Pierpont Morgan lies among the art treasures of his private library.

It reached New York on the steamer France in a driving rain yesterday afternoon, and at dusk was taken from the ship's mortuary chapel, shrouded in heavy velvet and resplendent in silver and gold, to a motor hearse, which conveyed it from the pier to the library.

Hundreds braved the drenching rain and stood in the streets to watch it pass.

Among the rare bronzes, costly paintings and other art objects which are brought here from Europe the dead financier will lie in state till Monday morning when the funeral services will be held in St. George's Protestant Episcopal church.

ADVERTISING BRINGS BIG RESULTS

Mr. Dana's Activity Brings Results

The writer in making his rounds of the auto sales rooms and garages paid a visit to Mr. George B. Dana, whose establishment is located in East Merrimack street, and there he found evidence of the great demand for Hudson cars. There were no less than six recent arrivals of this make of automobile. A new seven passenger "54" and also a five passenger Phaeton of the "14" model came in Thursday. Others are now in Boston ready for delivery as soon as the weather becomes favorable. George Russell Dana, Jr., is to be congratulated upon his success with the Hudson cars and his customers and friends speak highly of him not only as a salesman, but moreover for his energy in looking after his cars and making every effort to accommodate those to whom he has made sales.

Sales at Motor Mart

Yesterday John H. Pelmaut received his new "Buick" through the local agent, Mr. Rochette, proprietor of the Lowell Motor Mart in Merrimack street.

The well known Westchesterville contractor, Mr. Sanger, is now driving a Ford touring car, recently delivered by Mr. Rochette.

MADDOO BREAKS RULE ENTRY LIST GROWING

Received Job Hunter at Office Today

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Secretary McAdoo today for the first time broke his iron-clad rule against personally receiving applicants for treasury department positions or their entourage. He gave a half-hour's interview to a congressman who had a constituent pressing for a job. The result was that the secretary's rule would be broken again.

The representative talked earnestly and the secretary was unimpressed. He gave the man a list of papers to read through the documents later in the day only to find that the secretary's rule was broken again.

SEARCH "MEANEST MAN"

Robbed Aged Man While Latter Was Unconscious

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Search is being made for what the police term "the meanest man" while his aged victim lies in a precarious condition in a hospital as the result of being struck by a street car. Edward H. Warren, 72 years old, was struck by a car in the city of Washington, D. C., yesterday. He was taken to a hospital and is now in a precarious condition. The police are searching for the man who struck him.

UNITED FRUIT COMPANY TO REGULATE PARADES

May be Indicted Under Sherman Law Special Town Meeting Called at Hopedale

NEW YORK, April 12.—That the government contemplates drastic action under the Sherman law against the United Fruit company became known yesterday. Assistant United States Attorney, General William S. Griggs and two special treasury agents have been in this city for three days presenting to the federal grand jury evidence on which to base criminal indictments.

The grand jury investigation is being conducted on the hypothesis that the United Fruit company has acquired 85 per cent of the business of importing fruit from Jamaica, Cuba, Central and South American countries through unfair and competitive stalling methods in direct conflict with the anti-trust law. Among the witnesses examined are William Newsome, a director and manager of the West India Fruit Company, and Beverly Schermerhorn, director and manager of the South American Fruit Company, and James D. Gioria, president of the Atlantic Fruit company, the two-year-old competitor of the trust.

The Atlantic company's attempt to secure a foothold in Costa Rica, the trust's banana stronghold, may be considered the genesis of the investigation.

MUST EXPLAIN KILLING

State Dept. Takes Action on Death of Sailors

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The attention of the department of state, which has lately been given to a vexatious problem arising from the repeated wounding of American soldiers and sailors by Mexican soldiers and sailors, was yesterday directed to the serious situation resulting from the slaying of a petty officer and a sailor from the United States battleship "Albatross" at Guaymas, Mexico. Charles D. Taylor, consular agent at Guaymas, in reporting the deaths to the department, said a strict investigation was being made.

The slaying was done by the chief of police of Guaymas, and, as American soldiers going ashore in a foreign country invariably go unarmed, officials here with insist on full investigation. The Mexican authorities are unable to show that there was provocation for the attack by the armed police, serious consequences may ensue.

It was pointed out that the double killing might be taken as an indication of the inadequacy of the present government and have an influence when the United States gives further consideration to the Guaymas recognition of the Huerta government.

BLESSING OF INFANTS PRE-MARRIAGE CONTRACT

At St. Patrick's Church Tomorrow Afternoon

MEN'S MISSION WILL CLOSE TOMORROW EVENING

Mission for Unmarried Women Will Close at St. Peter's Tomorrow, and Services for Married Men Open

The solemn close of the men's mission at St. Patrick's church will take place tomorrow evening when special services will be held, starting at 7.30. There will be a final appeal to the men in a sermon on perseverance, recitation of the rosary and benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament.

Tomorrow afternoon, the missionary fathers will be present at a meeting of the members of the League of the Sacred Heart in the lower church and will address the members. The beautiful ceremony of the blessing of the infants will take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Fr. Casey, S. J., said that "admission to this service will be by ticket only and the ticket will be a baby."

It is expected that a large number of infants will be brought to the church to receive the blessing. The service tonight will consist of the Holy Mass, the benediction, instructions and sermon and to those who attend will be granted a plenary indulgence according to a decree of the pope.

The attendance which was so large at the beginning has kept up throughout the entire week and last evening the church was crowded to the doors with men of the parish. The sermon as delivered by Fr. Condon was a most impressive one and well up to the standard of eloquence which was set at the beginning by the Jesuit fathers. The mission has been a decided success and as Rev. Mr. William O'Brien, P. R., of St. Patrick's said, the largest one in the history of the parish.

At St. Peter's No less successful is the mission conducted at St. Peter's church by the Redemptorist fathers and the attendance is large at all the services. The mission for the unmarried women of the parish to whom the past week has been devoted will close tomorrow afternoon and that for the married men will open tomorrow evening.

Sacred Heart The members of the Holy Name society of the Sacred Heart parish will receive their quarterly meeting at the 7.30 o'clock mass tomorrow. After the services breakfast will be served in the school hall. A social hour will also be enjoyed.

THE HILDRETH CEMETERY Alderman Cummings Makes Inquiry

Commissioner Cummings is making inquiry relative to the city's responsibility or authority in the Hildreth cemetery, which is a public burying ground and he wants to find out about it. He does know that a portion of the cemetery is devoted to members of the Hildreth family for a burial place and as to the remainder of the cemetery he is endeavoring to ascertain.

For New Dwelling Pablo Bourgeois has been granted a permit for the erection of a dwelling at 44 Arlington street. The building will have three apartments of three rooms each with bath and toilet. It will be 23 by 61 feet and three stories in height. The estimated cost is $4000.

Contract For Oats The contract for one carload of No. 1 clipped oats for the health department has been awarded to Wilder & Weston, their bid being 42 cents a bushel. Paul Vigeant bid 43 cents a bushel.

Assistant Assessors The assistant assessors have turned in reports on polls and personal property from precincts one and two of ward 2; precincts one and two of ward 4; precincts one and three of ward 5; precinct one of ward 7, and precinct one of ward 8.

Enlarging Building William A. Sargent has been granted a permit for the enlargement of a dwelling at 127 Sixth street. The estimated cost of the additions and alterations is $1200.

Worms in Children. By Dr. True

If mothers only knew the tortures the little ones may suffer from worms! Thousands of children have stomach worms or pin worms and their parents do not know it. They doctor them for other ailments.

Signs of worms are: Indigestion, with a variable appetite; abnormal craving for sweets; nausea and vomiting; swollen upper lip; sour tongue; offensive breath; hard and full belly with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; face at one time flushed, then pale and in a few cases the face takes on a dull leaden hue. Eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids; itching of the nose; itching of the rectum; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; little red points sticking out on tongue; starting during sleep; slow fever; pale quickened and irregular body; maybe hot; and often, in children, convulsions.

Don't delay! Delays are dangerous. Give the children at once some of Dr. True's Elmer. Directions on the bottle. Sold by all dealers at 35c, 50c and $1.00. Thousands of grateful mothers have given my Dr. True's Elmer to sick children and restored them to health.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

SMALL DECLINES IN PRICES OF LEADERS AT MARKET OPENING

Canadian Pacific Exceptionally Strong—Initial Transaction of 1000 Shares—Market Closed Firm

NEW YORK, April 12.—Most of the stock market leaders declined fractionally at the opening today. There were large orders of Reading, Steel and Amal. Can. Pac. was exceptionally strong, advancing a point on an initial transaction of 1000 shares. The market was new low for the day. The market closed firm. A brisk rally occurred before the end of the session after stocks had again been depressed by the influences which have proved unsettling recently. The conviction that a general readjustment of values of old established issues would be necessary to conform to the new basis of financing caused increased selling of high grade issues. The statement by trading authorities that business was slowing down and reports of new activities on the part of the government to enforce the anti-trust law encouraged speculators to take the short side of the market. Liquidation was on a large scale in some of the newly formed industrial combinations. The effect on the stock market, however, was comparatively slight and in the last hour there was considerable covering of shorts. Bonds were irregular.

C.M.A.C. CLUB HOUSE UNDERGOING MANY IMPORTANT CHANGES

New Shower Baths are Being Installed and Tile Floors Put in—Membership is Increasing The C. M. A. C. building in Pawtucket street is undergoing important changes, and several men are employed in the club house installing new shower baths and tile floors in the basement of the edifice. Recently the building was equipped with a new electric lighting system and soon a new floor will put in the amusement room on the street floor.

There were two shower baths in the structure, adjoining the spacious and nautic, and those were removed and the latest type of shower bath installed. There will be three and the floors of these apartments will be finished in tile work. The contract for the installing of the baths was awarded to Demarais & Bourret while the wood work is being done by Rodolph Descheneaux.

All the old water pipes in the building were disconnected and removed and new ones were installed. The members are also planning the construction of a large piazza in the rear of the club house over the Pawtucket canal, and many other important changes will soon be made in order to make the rooms as attractive as possible.

This popular organization is rapidly increasing in membership and very soon it is believed the thousand mark will be reached, and for this purpose the members are doing their utmost to have their friends join. Recently a new pool table was installed and at the present there are three pool tables and a billiard. The only attraction missing is a bowling alley and that is coming.

THE LOWELL TEXTILE SCHOOL

To be Made State School for Instruction in Dyeing—It Surpasses in This Line

The resolve appropriating $7,163 for additional equipment at the Bradford Duffie Textile school, Fall River, was rejected by the house of representatives this week. Before the vote was taken the house listened to a most interesting debate on the resolve, the state board of education being convened for its position. Rep. Benjamin Ferring declared that the ways and means committee, which had recommended that the resolve be rejected, had acted wholly upon the misinformation given it by the state board of education.

The very important suggestion was made, during the course of the discussion, that in the near future the general court may decide that all instructions in dyeing shall be given at the Lowell Textile school.

It was stated by Rep. Holmes of Medford, chairman of the committee on education, which originally reported the resolve, that the Fall River school is the only one that has been living within its appropriations, and yet, despite that fact, the state board of education reported that it has done better educational work than either of the other schools and at a lower per capita cost than either of the others. He declared, however, that the Fall River school could not compete with the Lowell school unless it is given the equipment requested.

Lowell Textile School Representative Crocker of Boston, chairman of the ways and means committee, suggested that the state board of education had recommended that all of the instruction in dyeing at present being given by the textile schools should be given at the Lowell school, because of the facilities provided there, and he thought it would be a grave mistake if the legislature were now to authorize the establishment of such a course at the Fall River school when in the near future the general court may decide that all of this instruction shall be given at Lowell.

INVESTIGATORS BROKE UP SHOW

Entered a Chicago Winroom Where Carabet Was in Full Blast

CHICAGO, April 12.—While the cabaret was in full blast, the investigators of the Illinois senatorial vice commission entered two down-town restaurants and a winroom in the Tenderloin at midnight and brought performers, managers and guests to the Hotel Lusselle for interrogation at a session which lasted until two o'clock this morning.

From some of them the investigators drew reluctant admissions that a few of the songs and dances "might be" suggestive and "perhaps" had a bad effect upon the diners.

A girl singer, crying as she testified, asserted she never would sing "In My Harlem" a song Lieutenant Governor O'Hara was particularly inquisitive about. The manager of a well known restaurant said the restaurant business had degenerated into a vaudeville room and he did not know when it would stop.

Improper Song After investigators and members of a "clumping" party said they had heard an improper song in a place on 21st street the commission voted to reconvene at two o'clock.

Did the "Bear" Dance O. B. Stinson, manager of a downtown restaurant asserted the business had drifted into a show but he was compelled to put up a first class cabaret to get the trade. He was of the opinion that some popular songs had gone too far and said he did not allow "In My Harlem" to be sung in his restaurant. He said guests did the "bear" dance in the restaurant but that they never got into a decent.

An entertainer in this restaurant said there was nothing out of the way in the song "All Night Long."

"It's all in the way you sing it," she stated, "some people are so weak minded they will take up anything."

At two o'clock the hearing adjourned until ten o'clock.

LOWELL'S 680 POUND WOMAN

Flossie Ouellette Wants to Go on the
Road

Mrs. Flossie Ouellette, a resident of this city, who is reputed to be the fattest and the heaviest woman in the world, tipping the scales at 680 pounds, desires to be engaged, and here is an opportunity for some one. Flossie does not want to be engaged for any matrimonial venture, for she had one husband who died 15 years ago, and although he was as good a man as she could expect, Mrs. Ouellette says she will never again be bothered with a man as a life companion.

What Flossie wants now is an engagement to go on the road, and she will be ready at two weeks' notice. She now makes her home at 57 Cheever street, this city, and is enjoying the best of health, despite her enormous weight. She returned last September from Chicago, where she spent the summer months. She could have remained there, but ever since she traveled the stout woman has always made it her business to come to Lowell during the cold weather.

In conversation with the writer Mrs. Ouellette said she believes her weight is increasing, for she eats more than she ever did. She eats three good square meals every day, and although she is carrying 680 pounds of solid flesh, she is still able to attend to her household work with the exception of the laundry. Of course, she has to get other people to lace her shoes, but as far as work is concerned, providing there is not too much stooping to be done, Flossie is there with the goods.

She is 48 years of age, is five feet nine inches tall, and her measurement around the shoulders is seven feet. Her waist is five feet and eight inches in circumference, while her arms measure 32 inches. During her last engagement Mrs. Ouellette was with a company composed of another fat woman weighing about 400 pounds, a woman skeleton measuring seven feet and a 28 inch woman.

MRS. FLOSSIE OUELLETTE

She refused another engagement with the same people, for she prefers traveling alone. Last year she was also on exhibition at Stone's theatre in Boston and during her sojourn in the Hub met thousands of people.

Mrs. Ouellette expressed a desire to have a look at Lowell from the top of The Sun building and she was invited to call on any bright day, take the elevator and ask to be taken to the roof. She expressed a doubt as to the safety of the elevator with her as a passenger but was told that either of the elevators could carry four women like her without an effort.

PARKS AND COMMONS

New Superintendent Will
Develop Plans

FOR IMPROVEMENT OF PARKS AND
COMMONS

Work of Department Depends Upon
Amount of Money Appropriated—
Some New Suggestions

The new superintendent of parks, John W. Kernan, is getting a line on the parks, commons and playgrounds, and will have things moving in a little while. Mr. Kernan, in company with Park Commissioners Greene and Rountree, made a tour of the parks and commons Wednesday afternoon, and while certain things were outlined, no definite plan for the year's work has yet been arrived at. The men employed on the gypsy moth work will finish up this week, and the men who have been engaged in this work will be put on general park work.

These men are well trained in the work, and Mr. Kernan said today that the department would start with a general clean-up of the parks and commons. Mr. Kernan says that while he had a pretty good idea of the playground work he did not realize the magnitude of it. He is very much interested in playgrounds and thinks that the commons, in the heart of the city, cannot receive too much attention.

"The work of the department this year," said Mr. Kernan, today, "will depend upon the amount of money that the municipal council will see fit to appropriate. I feel that there is a splendid opportunity for the development of the park and playground system, and I am very much interested in the work. I have some ideas in mind that I think will work out all right. I have some plans and suggestions that I will lay before the commission at its next meeting."

Mr. Kernan, with the consent of the park commission, will plant soft maple trees on either side of the park leading from the jail to the centre of the South commons.

At the present time the park department is cleaning out the pond at Shedd park. The water service there has become blocked and it will require a few days to straighten matters out. There are boys at Fort Hill park who insist upon playing ball on the green and near the flower beds instead of on the grounds set aside for that purpose. Mr. Kernan has had to drive the boys off on several occasions, and he says he will probably have to take the matter up with the superintendent of police. The covering is being taken from the tulip beds and the flowers must be protected.

Asked relative to the development of Shedd park, Mr. Kernan said that while the proposition was a big one, he allowed that considerable expense could be spared by a little ingenuity, so to speak. Instead of sinking or burying the big rocks in the park, Mr. Kernan thinks that a portable crusher could be used and that the rocks and stones crushed could be sold to the street department. This department is always in need of crushed stone and sometimes indulges in long hauls from Dracut and other places. At a later date Mr. Kernan will submit an outline of park department work for the year.

192 Quarts Taken From
Cold Storage

NEW YORK, April 12.—One hundred and ninety-two quarts of frogs' legs were seized at cold storage houses yesterday by agents of the state conservation commission and smaller quantities at several restaurants.

The raid was the commission's way of serving notice that it intended to enforce strictly the new law prohibiting the taking, buying, selling or possession of "bullfrogs, green frogs or spring frogs" during the spawning months, April and May.

RECOGNITION OF CHINA

As a Republic by the
United States

NEW REPUBLIC ISSUES DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

President Wilson and Cabinet Enthusiastically Praise Tone of Document Received

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Chinese declaration of independence, which took the form of an address to the world, was cable here from Peking yesterday and after being read in the cabinet meeting was made public. State department officials declared that it reflected the influence of the young Chinese members who have been educated in American colleges. The president and his cabinet praised it enthusiastically, and formal recognition of the republic by the United States awaits only the actual organization of the constituent assembly, which meets again today in Peking. The text of the address follows:

"On the eighth day of the fourth month in the second year of the republic of China, the date fixed for the first opening of our permanent national assembly, the members of the senate and the house of representatives, having met in these halls to celebrate the event, make this declaration of their sentiments:

"The will of heaven is manifested through the will of the people. That the hundreds of millions of the people possess the authority of the state is not proclaimed now for the first time. The monarchy, so long corrupt, proved unworthy of the grave responsibilities entrusted to it by the will of the people; but with the introduction of popular government, the representatives of the people must share the likes and dislikes of the people. They are to give expression to the desires and voice the will of the people; they hold the reins in behalf of the nation to govern with severity or leniency, with parsimony or extravagance; they become the pivot upon which the prosperity of the state is made to turn. For the success or failure, safety or danger, adversity or good fortune, theirs is the merit or the blame.

"Can we be otherwise than anxious? Yet through great tribulation the spring comes to prosperity and our very bad management and anxieties are a means to happiness. Now, therefore, we unite to form this assembly and presume to publish our aspirations. May ours be a just government. May our five races lay aside their prejudices. May rain and sunshine bring bounteous harvest and cause the husbandman to rejoice.

"May the scholar be happy in his home and the merchant conduct his trade in peace. May no duty of government be unfulfilled and no hidden wound go undressed. Thus may the glory be spread abroad and these our words be echoed far and wide, that those in distant lands who hear may rejoice, our neighbors on every side give us praise, and may the new life of the old nation be lasting and unending. Who of us can dare to be neglectful of his duty?"

Peru and Mexico already have recognized China and the Brazilian ambassador said yesterday his country was ready to welcome China to the family of nations and was only awaiting action by the United States in compliance with the request of Secretary Bryan for concerted action.

GOMPERS IN HOSPITAL

Head of A. F. of Labor is
Seriously Ill

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, is confined in a hospital here threatened with mastoiditis of the left ear.

For several weeks he has suffered considerable pain and yesterday he was taken to the hospital for constant attention and complete rest from his work. Mastoiditis is an inflammation of the mastoid bone, the inside of which contains the mastoid cells—irregular shaped cavities connecting with the middle ear. It is the bony prominence below and behind the opening of the ear.

FAVORS MERIT SYSTEM

Bryan Friendly to Plan
of Appointment

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Secretary of State Bryan let it be known today that he is friendly to the merit system of appointment, promotion and tenure in the consular service. In public utterances made while he was still a private citizen but based upon personal contact with the American consular officers in various parts of the world Mr. Bryan has not failed to express his admiration of the service as a whole and of the personnel. Now he has announced he was inclined to have regard for civil service principles so far as the consular service was concerned and that consuls who had entered the service in accordance with these principles were unlikely to be disturbed.

POLICE AUTO ASSAILED

EMPTY STREET CARS AT MILFORD ALSO STONED

No Arrests Made—None Injured—Threats of Violence Made—Armed Guard Increased

MILFORD, April 12.—Despite the vigorous precautions taken by the state and local police last night to guard against any repetition of the violence which resulted Thursday night in the riddling of a street car by bullets and the wounding of a passenger, there were further disturbances on the part of the men out on strike from the Draper company plant in Hopdale.

An automobile filled with officers was showered with stones as it passed through the "Plains" district of this town, and although no one was injured the machine was much damaged. A few minutes later two street cars, both empty, were made the target for volleys of rocks in the hands of a mob of 500 strikers, which hoisted and shouted in derision at other autos filled with police.

No arrests were made. The trouble started about 7 o'clock. Each car carrying employees from the Draper plant was guarded by police, while autos carrying more officers followed. The cars were allowed to pass through Milford on their way to adjacent towns without molestation. On the return trip, though, the mob had become incensed. Threats of violence were made openly, and when one of the police autos came in view the crowd rushed upon it. Missiles of every sort were hurled at the officers, and only the fact that the machine was covered, saved them from injury. As it was, several stones crashed through the heavy canvas and the hood of the car was battered and mangled.

Armed Guards at Mills

The machine continued on its way without stopping and the strikers turned upon two empty cars entering the town on East Main street. Stones were hurled at them and practically every window in both was smashed. Armed guards were stationed in even greater numbers about the Draper plant last night and every factory and public building in this town and Hopdale was watched by the police. The residents are fearful that the shooting of last night was only the first of many scenes of violence that may grow out of the present situation.

A PUBLIC MARKET

The hearing held at city hall on Wednesday evening on the public market question brings the matter at last positively before the people of the city, and demonstrates that the movement, which is country wide in its operation, promises to find a definite expression here in a very short time. Although such markets, even as municipal ventures, owned and conducted by the city, have been operating successfully in some of the principal cities of America, there seems to be a slight misunderstanding and feeling of distrust among some sections of the local public against its adoption, even in its simplest form of a public market. If the opinions expressed at the city hall meeting may be taken as an indication of public feeling, it is evident that the farmers of the surrounding towns are heartily in favor of a public market here. On realizing its functions and possibilities there will also be a responsive approval from the mass of the people. The only objection seems to come from the storekeepers who, without realizing the matter in its true light, fear a possible injury to business from the adoption of such a scheme.

The time is ripe for the establishing of a public market in Lowell. Many of its aspects must be regulated by time and although no one can accurately foretell its ultimate form and scope, the need of the present is the setting apart of some definite area where the farmers could bring their produce to a central market and sell direct to the retailer and to those of the people who might wish to avail of the opportunity to buy more satisfactorily. As was brought out at the public hearing, the present system has many disadvantages. Farmers are now obliged to become peddlers and to take their goods from store to store, making the buying and selling of farm produce a haphazard and unsystematized process. So unsatisfactory are our arrangements that many of the larger farmers in our immediate vicinity send their goods to Boston, realizing that they can do business there more advantageously. With the adoption of a public market system the principle of competition would be established among the farmers, and they would naturally find it necessary to keep the prices as low as would be consistent with a fair profit. The retailer would be able to keep his market supplied with all the fruits and vegetables of the season instead of partly depending on circumstance as he is frequently compelled to do under the present unsatisfactory arrangements.

In cities of the west, Des Moines for instance, which we have copied in our new charter, public markets have resulted in reducing the high cost of living. In this they are a public necessity. In this matter the city has a chance to show initiative and enterprise. A street or open area, centrally located, could be set apart; perhaps a simple building might be erected, and low rentals charged to cover the necessary outlay and maintenance. Such a market should then be thrown open to all farmers, the lesser as well as the greater, and the people of the city would have a chance to get what they need at the lowest market price. This market while proving a genuine boon to the public would not injure any particular class so that there is actually nothing in the way except the definite plan and the moderate expense of carrying it into effect.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION

As the financial markets are the barometers which register the general prosperity of a country, a review of the American financial situation at the present time, when tariff revision is imminent, will give a fairly accurate idea of the result of the proposed measure on the future outlook of the country. Although there is some hearing of money apparent, the stringency is not confined to America, as the same tendency is noticeable abroad. All during the war there was a possibility of some of the great nations being entrained in the struggle and this fact resulted in a spirit of world wide unrest and a slight degree of caution. Now when peace seems but a matter of a few weeks, it is expected that there will be a tremendous amount of readjustment and readjustment and that American securities and manufactures will be largely benefited.

It is evident that the coming of the new democratic administration has not had any injurious effect on the financial situation of the country. Undoubtedly the personality of President Wilson has had much to do with the general confidence for he has always impressed business men favorably, and he is gaining strength at every new declaration of his future policies. The fact that he is to take an active part in the framing of the new tariff laws will ensure a further spirit of optimism and security, as his views have always been consistent with good business policies. He has been most frank and sincere in his declarations, and business men and financiers, if not generally co-operating with him, are not openly hostile. Now that his relations with congress are known to be most cordial, one of the critical periods of his administration has been passed satisfactorily, and the legislation of the near future will be awaited with interest but not with that sense of impending calamity predicted by some who announced their vain desires rather than their honest convictions. The financial aspect of the country seems also to be reassured by the declaration of the president for a coming reform in our money system. When the tariff question is settled this will be the next measure of importance. The announcement of the president met with no dissenting voice for it is generally conceded that our monetary system is antiquated and much in need of being modernized. It will be remembered that the president declared his intention of studying the present system thoroughly, and of seeking expert advice, before recommending any definite departure. This fact ought to convince the people that his views are not radical and that business will not be disturbed by the methods which he will eventually recommend. In the Chinese loan question both he and the secretary of state showed splendid judgment, which has been universally commended, and the good sense displayed in this financial transaction augurs well for a just and safe policy in the financial matters of this country.

HOUSING AMBASSADORS

If the measure introduced by Senator Bacon of Georgia, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and now before congress, becomes law, America may in future be spared the humiliation of asking our wealthy men the favor of representing her at the foreign courts. Selection of ambassadors at the present time takes on this aspect. Recognizing the fact that a complete reorganization of the system and the building of foreign embassies would entail a vast expenditure at the present time, the bill suggests that the government rent and furnish suitable dwellings in the foreign capitals, more or less elaborate according to the requirements of the service. It also provides means by which permanent buildings may eventually be erected, thus removing one of the greatest difficulties of the present perplexing and unsatisfactory diplomatic service question.

The general dignity of America, the particular dignity of diplomatic usage, the character of the office, have all demanded a change in the present system, and the bill of Senator Bacon seems to meet the situation satisfactorily. Formerly the provisions made for our ambassadors were wholly inadequate, and as the upholding of sumptuous establishments and the giving of lavish entertainments were found necessary both because of precedent and exigencies of the times, it is not surprising that the president found it difficult to obtain suitable representatives to serve in the great capitals of the world. As such a condition of affairs must be particularly offensive to the patriotic and democratic nature of the president, the bill will undoubtedly get his support, which is the strongest factor in national legislation at the present time, and America will thus gain much credit in international affairs.

DR. FRIEDMANN

If time has not yet fully justified the claims of Dr. Friedmann as to the discovery of an alleged cure for tuberculosis, it has at least demonstrated that he has been actuated by sincere, honorable and legitimate motives and that he has been unjustly subjected to much criticism and abuse which has been heaped upon him by some eminent physicians since he came to this country. On reflection, it must be apparent that his motives are considered above suspicion in his own country for, if not, a storm of protest would have followed him from members of the German medical profession who would strongly resent being represented here by a fake practitioner. There is always more or less professional jealousy of any doctor who claims to have made a valuable remedy and until he has demonstrated the efficacy of his cure, he must expect criticism.

Although the time has not been sufficiently long as yet for a thorough test, reports from the patients treated by the German specialist are reassuring. He is now practicing in the state of Rhode Island, at the invitation of Governor Pothier. One of the first persons to greet him there was a Providence girl whom he had treated in New York and who is now apparently cured. He has also been given the privilege for the first time in America, of accepting fees for his services but he has done much charitable work in public institutions, and he has not made any charge in the case of poor individuals in private treatments. If Dr. Friedmann's cure is certain, he will be known as one of the greatest benefactors of the human race.

Seen and Heard

"They say that Mrs. Waddington's little boy is ambidextrous," said Mrs. O'Brien. "And so he is," exclaimed Mrs. O'Brien. "Is that so? Ain't it too late? They expected he was going to be all right after they got his tonsils out."

All was quiet. For an hour the husband had been reading a life of Napoleon with close attention. Suddenly filled with a great idea, he said to his wife: "Do you know what I'd have done if I had been Napoleon?" "Yes," she answered. "You'd have settled down in Corsica and spent your life grubbing about bad luck and hard times."

H. Atterbury Smith, who, with his open-stairway plan, promises to revolutionize the tenement house, said in New York: "The open-stairway tenement with its abundance of sunshine and fresh air, will make a tenement apartment actually a home. The tenement dweller of the future needn't feel like Captain Jack."

"I've sailed the seas for 57 years," said Capt. Salt, a seasoned old shellback. "Don't you ever get homesick, captain?" "Homesick? No homesick!" said Capt. Salt. "No sir! I ain't home enough for that!"

WHAT IS SUCCESS?

What is success? A question old and wisely asked by few. The way that leads to higher life And conduct grand and true; The full unfoldment of one's best self, nor the heavy air, Nor the fragrance of wind-blown meadows ever stole to greet her there.

What is success? To shape our course Among our fellow-men In paths which lead them to the truth That lies beyond their ken; To reach a helping hand to those Who wander in their zeal, And pour the balm of sympathy In wounds which slowly heal.

What is success? To strive to be true And loyal and selfless good, While with the fruits of hope and love The multitude of feeble hands, And spread our faith, our charities, As heaven's bright sun shines forth, Until they vitalize man's brotherhood And circumscribe the earth.

What is success? To strive each day To make Love's kingdom come; To exile dogma, creed, and fear, And teach that all are one; That whoever we drift apart Through caste, or class, or clan, The laws of Nature draw us back And bind us man to man.

"Children are not to be called stupid just because they fail to notice things and to grasp opportunities that appear plain to their elders," writes a school teacher. "Show a three-year-old child a picture of a person without arms and the child will not notice anything wrong with the picture. A six-year-old child will notice it."

"I teach one of the lower grades in a public school. The other day I had the class in arithmetic put down Roman numerals from I to 12. To my great surprise the most backward child in the room was the first to finish the task and his paper was absolutely correct. This boy was considered dull."

COSTS AND PROFIT. She told where the dark walls shuddered and the pulleys groaned and creaked.

Where the oil-soaked floors were throbbing, and the swift belts screamed and shrieked.

And the subliminal never gladdened her heart, nor the heavy air, Nor the fragrance of wind-blown meadows ever stole to greet her there.

And she sighed and her soul was weary as she fed the thing of steel That crashed at her frail foot's heel.

And as she pondered, a monster flashed, it loomed in the dust-laden air, Pitiless, merciless and soulless, though its bulk overshadowed Doom.

And she toiled and her wage was a pittance and scarce of a dollar a day.

For hark as hers must be burdened that man at his pleasure play, And spirits as hers must be broken by the eggs that are ground and sped.

That thousands be piled on thousands at the costs of the hearts that bleed.

For men that he add on profit conceived and planned full well The power and skill of a monster to endure when a man's strength fell.

And all it needed was watching and the eyes of a girl are cheap, And the strength that adds to the golden heap.

Her face was seamed and hollowed where the coal-black cheeks had dug, And her eyes were dulled with the longing for the twilight's rest and hush.

For the space at the end of her labors In the stifling heat or the cold, In the stupor of the soul's exhaustion when youth, ere its time, grows old.

And yet is her girlhood garnered away from the space of dust, Away from the shadowed highways from dreams that are half made true.

Her reward is an atom of profits her pitiful hands have amassed, Man's skill and wage and labor are saved while a girl will last.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Flattering. Salem News: The innovation introduced by President Wilson in reading his message to congress in joint session, seems to have caught the fancy of the capital. Outside comments are distinctly flattering to the president in the departure he saw fit to institute.

Vice Probe. ## Encourage the Farmer

Portland Express: We cannot give the farmer enough science and learning, nor enough comfort and entertainment. He will profit, and we all will profit by every mite of it that he gets.

One of these days we will wake up to the real importance of this Vermont acreage that supports it. There is one of the chief causes of the high cost of living. If we do not, of our own accord, do something to help the farmer, he shall soon enough be driven to it by the rising cost of his necessities. If we do not voluntarily accord him the distinction, the day is coming when we shall have to regard him as the most important business man in the community.

California and Japan

Lynn News: California seems determined to make trouble between herself and Japan, and as a natural consequence between the United States and Japan. The report seems to be authentic enough that an alien law prohibiting Japanese and other foreigners who are not eligible to citizenship from owning or leasing land in the state will be passed at this session of the legislature, with the backing of Governor Johnson, one-time candidate for the vice presidency, and his friends. If Roosevelt deals as promptly with Mr. Johnson as he did, as president, with contemplated action by the state about six years ago, the governor is likely to have some unpleasant reading before long.

MASSACRED CHRISTIANS DR. ALLEN PRODUCED THE MARVELOUS "EU-COLA" AND NEW ALUMINUM PLATE

Turks Killed Inhabitants of Kasteloryefo

ATHENS, Greece, April 12.—A body of Turks coming from the coast of Asia Minor yesterday massacred the Christians among the inhabitants on the island of Kasteloryefo to the south-east of Rhodes, on the Asiatic coast, according to despatches received here during the night. Details of the occurrence are still lacking.

SPRINGFIELD CAR

Left Track and Passengers and Crew Escaped With Bruises—Wrecking Crew Labored Two Hours

SPRINGFIELD, April 12.—While traveling at a medium rate of speed last night, a trolley car on the cross-town run left the track at the junction of White street and Summer avenue, and plunging across Summer avenue for a distance of about 20 feet, collapsed on its side, throwing two passengers and the car crew to the ground.

Aside from minor contusions and bruises, none of the occupants of the car was injured. The passengers were Alderman J. R. Albee of 25 Irvington avenue and A. W. Glover of 635 Summer avenue. The car was in charge of Motorman M. J. Galbraith and Conductor G. L. Baldus.

The track was wet and the brakes had not slowed up the car sufficiently as it approached Summer avenue to prevent an accident.

Residents in the neighborhood, alarmed by the crash, telephoned to police headquarters and two police ambulances were rushed to the scene. Dr. Seth A. Lewis was also notified and was soon on the spot. The wrecking crew from the Street Railway bureau labored nearly two hours before the car was replaced on the track.

DEATHS

FOLSOM—Henry W. Folsom, aged 57 years, for many years overseer of the knitting department of the Lawrence Manufacturing Co., died yesterday at his home, 998 Middlesex street. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Florence E. Folsom.

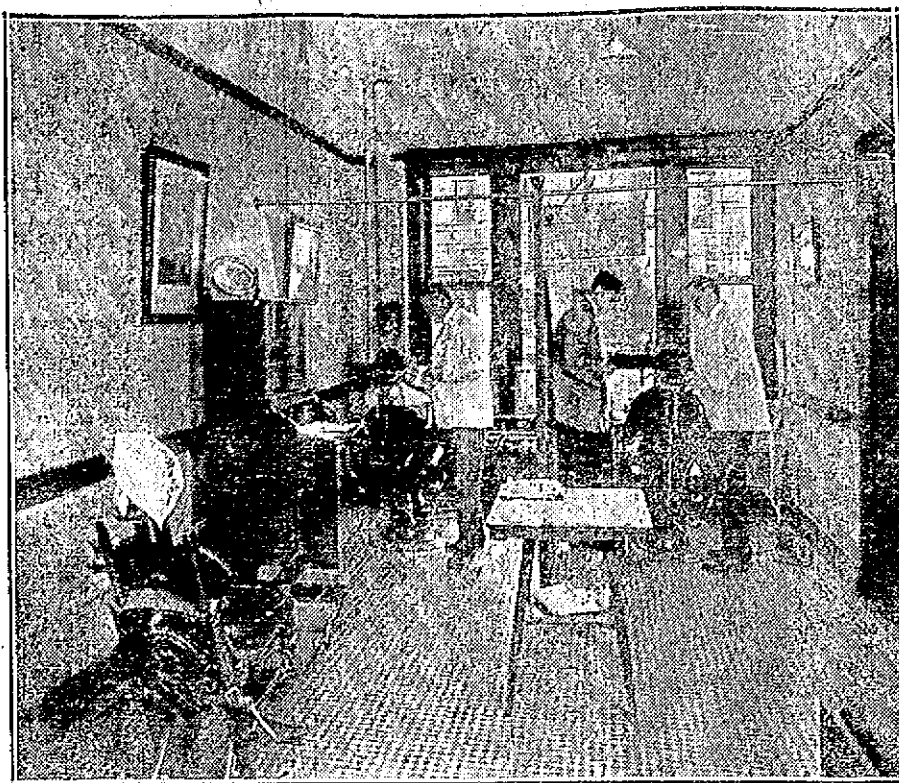

SHURTLEFF—Mrs. Olive E. Shurtleff died yesterday at her home in Carleton, on the Lowell road, at the age of 54 years, 10 months and three days.

KEAF—Mrs. Emma L. Keaf died at her home, 77 Carleton street, this morning, aged 63 years, 1 month. She was employed for many years as forelady for A. G. Pollard Co. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. Wm. H. Dadd of Lynn and Mrs. E. A. Jordan of New York city; also three brothers, S. C. and Everett Buzzell of Carleton, Me., and Eugene of Folsom. She was a member of the Daughters of Liberty and the Rebekas.

FUNERALS

HILL—The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Clark Hill took place from her home, 19 Pearson road, Somerville, yesterday. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Paddock. The body was forwarded to Lowell, and burial was in the family lot in the Edson cemetery, where the committal service was read by Rev. M. Paddock. Burial was under the direction of Undertakers Young & Blake.

MAGUIRE—The funeral of Matthew Maguire took place this morning from his late home, 53 Parker avenue, and was largely attended. A funeral high

VIEW OF ONE OF DR. ALLEN'S OPERATING ROOMS, SHOWING THE PERFECT LIGHT AND OTHER SPLENDID APPOINTMENTS.

One of the most haunting of fears known to humanity is the fear of pain. It is this fear that makes cowards, prevents men from enjoying the esteem and admiration of their fellows and holds them from accomplishments that would redound to their advantage. Pain has its terrors for all.

Take, for example, dentistry. How many there are who neglect their teeth and as a consequence suffer ill health and the disgusting diseases of their friends because of the pain generally associated with the dentist's chair.

It is Lowell's distinction to have one of her prominent citizens and dentists as the discoverer of a means of doing away with all pain in dental operations in his marvelous "Eu-Cola," which has gained fame for him in this city and throughout New England. This "Eu-Cola" of Dr. Allen's positively renders the operation of extracting and the setting of bridge work, etc., absolutely painless, thereby eliminating the pains which the treatment of the teeth would otherwise cause. The preparation does not in the slightest degree injure the teeth or mouth of the patient and thus there is no longer any need of a person remaining away from the dentist and neglecting his teeth to his own subsequent detriment. Dr. Allen has had remarkable success in the use of this "Eu-Cola."

Another of his inventions is the aluminum denture or plate which has practically all the good qualities of the gold denture and which is far from being as expensive. In his beautiful quarters in the Sun building, Dr. Allen has a broad practice and he is most conveniently located for the accommodation of all. He has on hand aluminum plates which he is glad to show to those interested and who need such work.

All are agreed that the operating rooms, laboratory and reception room of Dr. Allen are among the very best in New England, and he has acquired an enviable name for himself by his flawless work.

mass was celebrated in St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock by Rev. Fr. Mullin. The Gregorian chant was sung by the choir, the soloists being Mr. Thomas Doulier and Miss Margaret Griffin. Miss Carolyn White was the organist. The burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. Fr. Mullin read the service. The Rev. Fr. Mullin was assisted by Messrs. Fred A. Spauld, Bert S. Gordon, John McPherson and John F. Griffin. The funeral was in charge of Undertaker Charles H. Molloy.

MEHUGH—The funeral of the late Mrs. Matilda P. Mehugh, wife of David A. Mehugh, whose sudden death caused widespread sorrow, took place this morning at 9 o'clock from her home, 525 Westford street and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Henry Beardon, the choir under the direction of Mr. Frederick G. Bond rendering special music. The soloists were Miss Catherine Hennessey and Mr. James E. Donnelly. Mr. Henry Guilbault presiding at the organ. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The bearers were John F. Smith, Mr. Bennett's room of the Biscuit Co., Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Noonan, Miss Margaret Murray, Miss Katherine Kane and Miss Rose Smith. The bearers were John Parker, Patrick Cunningham, William Morrison and James Lyons. At the grave Rev. Fr. Callahan read the committal prayers and the burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery in charge of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

NOLAN—The funeral of the late Mrs. Ellen Nolan, an old and esteemed resident, took place this morning at 9 o'clock from her home, 178 Adams street, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Timothy Bond. There were many beautiful floral tributes, including a large pillow inscribed "Mother from the family," with others from Mr. and Mrs. Denis Harrington and family, Mr. and Mrs. George Landers and family, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mr. Bennett's room of the Biscuit Co., Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Noonan, Miss Margaret Murray, Miss Katherine Kane and Miss Rose Smith. The bearers were John Parker, Patrick Cunningham, William Morrison and James Lyons. At the grave Rev. Fr. CLARENCE W. AYER DEAD
CAMBRIDGE, April 12.—Clarence Walter Ayer, librarian of the Cambridge public library since 1904 and an expert on library administration, died suddenly of acute indigestion today.

In yesterday's issue of The Sun, a copy of a former advertisement, which reference was made to the closing out sale of fall and winter goods, was used by mistake in Mrs. Jordan-Hartford's space. Everybody who has visited her store this season knows that she has a beautiful and complete display of all the latest creations in spring and summer millinery.

The commissioner of public property and the inspector of buildings were visitors at the Harvard brewery yesterday afternoon. A statement of this kind, of course, requires some explanation and The Sun hastens to explain that the purpose of sampling its products. This information comes directly from Commissioner Cummings, who is himself a teetotaler. They visited the brewery for the purpose of inspecting the plant, the buildings and Mr. Cummings says they found everything O. K. The Harvard brewery has a fine reputation for its products, and the reporter made bold to ask: "How about the products?"

"We were not interested at all in the products," said Mr. Cummings, "but everything looked nice and clean." These few kind words reminded Mr. Cummings of a little happening of a few years ago. He was at a banquet table where beer and ale were served. Mr. Cummings pushed the beer and ale aside and a little man on his right who had been getting away with all that was coming to him, shifted a bit uneasily in his seat a few times and said: "If it is no offence, sir, might I ask if you are a teetotaler, or are you on the water wagon for the time being?"

"I am a total abstainer," said Mr. Cummings. "I believe you, but your looks belie you," said the little man with the big beer appetite.

STRIKE OF CAR MEN SETTLED

Traffic Was Resumed in Buffalo Today—Troops Were Withdrawn This Morning

BUFFALO, April 12.—Through the efforts of Mayor Louis P. Fuhrman the street car strike here has been settled. All traffic on the city and suburban lines of the International Railway company was resumed today.

While troops patrolled the main streets yesterday afternoon to protect the few cars then in service, President E. G. Connetto and other officials of the International Railway company conferred at the mayor's office with W. D. Sloan, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees, and other representatives of the strikers and decided on a basis of settlement.

To bring about peace negotiations the men were forced to yield on one of their chief contentions—that the negotiations should be carried on by a committee of the association. One of the main causes of the strike, which lasted six days, was the refusal of the International company to recognize the union in any form.

If the company and employees and the company officials are unable to agree on certain questions, those questions upon which they vary will be put up to a board of arbitration, appointment of which was provided for in the agreement yesterday.

Thus far it is provided that all employees who were in the service of the company on the Saturday preceding the day of the strike shall be given their former positions. President Mahon of the association said last night:

How American Women May Keep Faces Young

"The American smart woman ages early," says Christian Miller, F. C. I., the famous English health expert. She adds that her ultimate "so exultant" beauty comes from the use of a cream that you give yourself and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and withered looking and soon forms wrinkles.

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure, marcellized wax, which causes the faded lifeless cuticle to flake off in minute particles. A little each day, until the fresh young skin beneath is wholly in evidence. The wax is sufficient. Spread on at night like cold cream, washing it off next morning.

For wrinkles dissolve an ounce of powdered salicylic acid in a half pint of water; bathe the face in this immediately every evening. It is affected by the deeper lines. Both treatments are remarkable facial rejuvenators.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Lowell Opera House

The scenes from the life of the great apostle of Ireland are very interesting and hold the attention of spectators from start to finish—there are many scenes that are entrancing and many incidents that are thrilling. They will appeal not only to the Irish but to all lovers of history and to everybody with a religious spirit. There is a human interest throughout the scenes, which is most appealing, the conclusion of the picture rating as a climax most stirring. The great apostle, old and feeble through his laborious work of 50 years, goes to the top of a mountain where he preaches with pride and pleasure the beauties of the land to which he brought Christianity and peace. A little later his spirit takes its flight to the great tribunal of heaven, with the last words on his lips that have proved an inspiration to many an Irish patriot on the scaffold, and which is a constant prayer through the Emerald Isle, "God save Ireland." This attraction will be at the Opera House today and tomorrow with matinees both days.

"THE COUNTRY BOY"

Though "The Country Boy" which the Henry B. Harris estate brings to the Opera House next Friday evening does not aim to teach any special lesson or to point a moral, yet the author, Edgar Allan Poe, has so subtly touched upon a subject that reaches hidden depths in the hearts of many spectators. There has been much discussion recently in all the larger cities as to whether city or country life is more advantageous to the young man who would make something more than his ordinary out of his natural possibilities. Though the consensus of opinion is by no means universal, yet the majority seem to think, as Mr. Poe says, that the young man who comes to the metropolis to fight his way single handed has, by far, the most difficult and uncertain proposition. In the midst of the seething city life, with its treacherous under-currents, its appeal to the lighter side of one's nature, and its myriad forms of enticement to pleasure and negligence, thousands of bright lads, fired with ambition but lacking in experience and guidance, have gone down, who the records show that the majority of the world's great men have been country born and bred, only coming to the city after their names were well enough known to admit them to business circles. The story of the play is very entertaining and the humorous portions especially laugh. Seats on sale today at the box office.

Merrimack Square Theatre

With the Japanese opera in one act by E. M. Barbour "In a Tea House," Grace Young & Co. presenting the one-act drama, "The Fifth Commandment," the Temple Players in "The Country Boy" and "The Thief" will be given at the Merrimack Square theatre next week. The play will be exceptionally good. They will include the first to be shown in this city of the flood at Dayton, Ohio. The pictures were taken at a real life and came very near not being shown at all, the operator having many miraculous escapes from destruction while securing them. Don't fail to see them. They are exciting, thrilling and real. They will be shown with others of an interesting make, among them being the two-reel feature called "A Change of Administration." The Sunday concert which Manager Carroll has arranged for tomorrow include in the vaudeville list Teiler & Keef, Pringle & Allan, Jack Colby, and Bush Devereaux and others. The program which is to be presented will be pleasantly intermingled with a series of complete and new photo-plays.

Today the Theatre Voyons offers a novel comedy, "The Perfidy of Mary," a product of the Biograph company, and one of the cleverest of its kind. It deals with the lesson taught a would-be seducer by a bright girl, "Mary," who is a real beauty. "The Perfidy of Mary" is a comedy, with a strong cast, tells of a reformed crook and how he repaid his debt of gratitude to his benefactor, Patrick Weekly. It is full of interesting happenings and other features on the bill are excellent.

Today the Theatre Voyons offers a novel comedy, "The Perfidy of Mary," a product of the Biograph company, and one of the cleverest of its kind. It deals with the lesson taught a would-be seducer by a bright girl, "Mary," who is a real beauty. "The Perfidy of Mary" is a comedy, with a strong cast, tells of a reformed crook and how he repaid his debt of gratitude to his benefactor, Patrick Weekly. It is full of interesting happenings and other features on the bill are excellent.

Live Bits of Sport

The bats, bases, and all the various other paraphernalia that a baseball team needs have arrived at the Lowell headquarters for the coming season. If this rain had not prevented the diamond would have been laid out, and everything in readiness for the team when it arrives tomorrow. A steam roller has been used to press the diamond into shape and the inequalities in the surface of the diamond have been totally erased. Besides having the most complete and modern of stands the Lowell club will also boast of the best playing diamond and outfield in the entire league.

Macce, Starr, Smoyer and Miller form quite a nucleus for any baseball team and with this quartet in town baseball chatter has started and will never be headed until the world's championship has been decided next fall. From now on baseball will be the main topic of conversation for all those who have not completed negotiations with the underworld and a man who is not interested in the game and its exponents, if he be a wise man, will not mention the fact publicly. The general sport loving public, however, stand in some cases where the squirrels are denied entrance.

Smoyer looks to be in the best of physical shape. Of course we have not had an opportunity to see him perform but from the sidewalk it looks as though Shorty Jee was going to have the time of his life in landing the job of shortstop. Jimmy Magee looks just the same as he did last year and every one here that he has resented the Lowell club. He stated yesterday that he never felt so well at this time in the season as he does at present and allows that he wants to climb into a suit just as soon as possible. That is the way that the manager likes to hear them talk. It certainly sounds like business.

A Boston paper stated last night that Roddy McDonald knocked Johnny Doyle down eight times in their recent fight here. Just a slight exaggeration about that account we opine. Of all the tough beatings that a man ever got McDonald's was the worst that has ever been shown here. For Doyle used him for a punching bag after the second round. It is true that McDonald did strike Johnny in the first round and happened to catch him off his balance with the result that Doyle hit the boards, but what happened to him was not the result of a single blow. Mack's protegee after that was distinctly bad for his reputation. About the only thing that we can say for McDonald is that he is game and gameness never knocked out a man yet.

Matters at Haverhill are still up in the air and a settlement is no nearer than it was at the beginning of the season. Dan Clancy is one gentleman who has no notion of being pushed out in the cold. Dan has been there before and knows just how cold it can be.

GREGG WINS HIS GAME TEXTILE SCHOOL GAME

Held White Sox to 7 Hits and 1 Run Wet Grounds Made the Game Impossible

Veau Gregg started the 1913 season in great form yesterday when he held the Chicago White Sox to seven hits and one lone tally. Cleveland's star southpaw did not let up on the Chicago batters for an instant and had them at his mercy at all stages of the contest. Jackson, Cleveland's slugging right fielder, got a brace of doubles and a triple in three times at bat. Cicotte, who replaced Scott for Chicago, held the Cleveland team hitless. The score was 3 to 1.

ST. LOUIS WOX

Defeated Tigers in Slugging By the Score of 8 to 6—Egan Crawford Made Four Hits

St. Louis put up a greater exhibition of slugging than the Tigers in their game yesterday and carried it off by a score of 8 to 6. Five of the team's runs came across in the sixth inning. Johnstone got three singles, one of them with the bases full. Detroit knocked Hamilton out of the box in the eighth when they scored two runs on four hits and a wild pitch. Crawford got four hits for a total of five in five times at bat. The score:

Wet Grounds Made the Game Impossible

Held White Sox to 7 Hits and 1 Run

The Lowell Textile school will be represented this year by one of the fastest baseball teams that have been turned out of the Moody street institution. With Captain Darius, Brickett, pliffers, and Cleary, third base, and Jackson, first base, the team has four veterans whose individual work has won many games in the past. All of these men are above the average of school players and are especially strong with the willow.

SUSPEND BALL PLAYERS

Without Formality of a Hearing

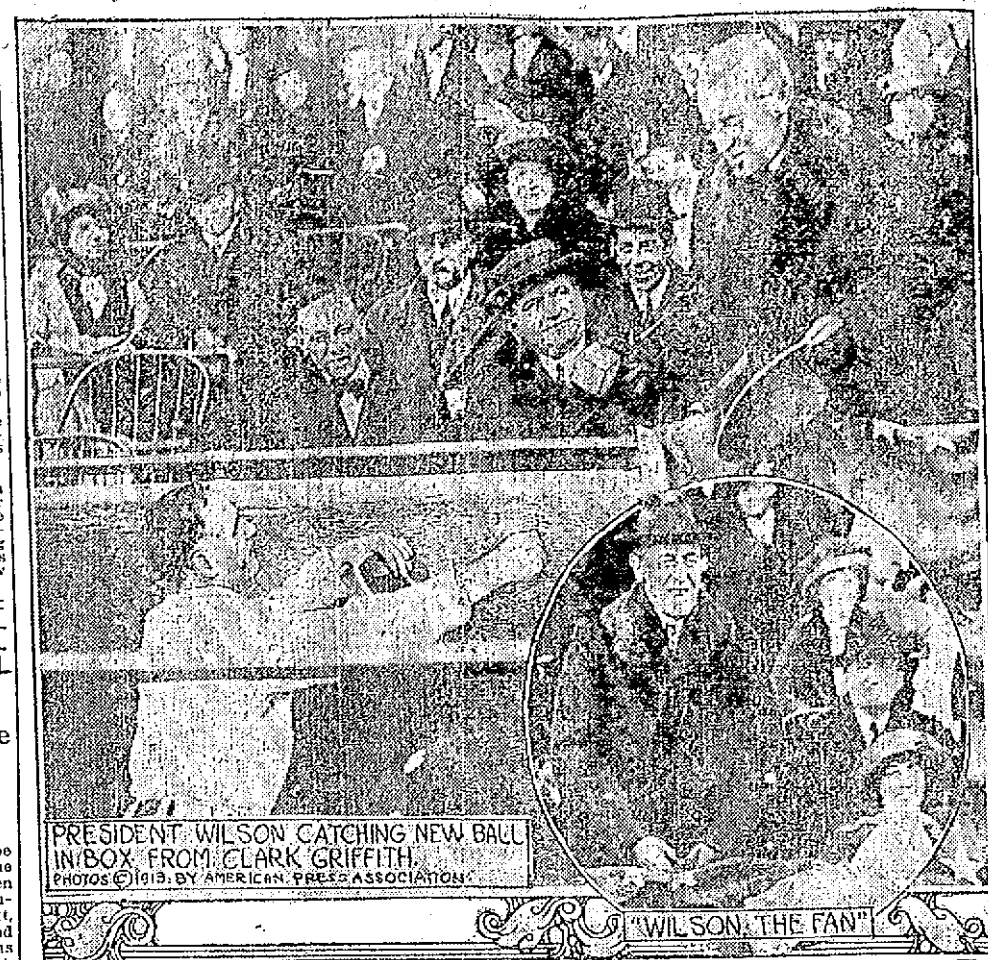

CHICAGO, April 12.—Offending players will be suspended during the present season without the formality of a hearing, as has been the case heretofore, according to announcement made last night by President Johnson. The statement was made last night by President Johnson. The statement was made as a reply to President Fultz of the players' organization, who recently requested that punishment of men ejected by umpires be withheld until their side of the case could be heard.

HONORS WON BY BOYLE

Lowell Boxer Has Better of Billy Corrigan of Cambridge in Main Bout, Waterville, Me.

WATERVILLE, Me., April 12.—In two six-round bouts in the armory last night, Young Boyle of Lowell had the better of Billy Corrigan of Cambridge, although under the Maine law no decision was rendered by the referee, Hector McInnis of Boston. The first half was somewhat tame, but in the last half both men apparently did their best.

The excitement of the evening was furnished in the semi-final between Kid Dennis of Watlow, champion lightweight of Maine, and Young Johnson of Bangor. This was stopped by the referee in the second round after Johnson had been driven to his knees. The preliminary was between Kid Tardiff and Young Chakey, both of Waterville, in which Tardiff had the better at the end of the fifth, when it was stopped by the referee to save Chakey from further punishment.

WHAT, HO! PRESIDENT WILSON A REAL FAN!
PLEASE OBSERVE HIS BASEBALL SMILE

WASHINGTON, April 12.—There is no doubt about it—President Wilson is a real baseball fan. He knows all about the game, and he is going to be seen often at the ball park here. At the opening game of the season between the Washingtons and the Yankees the president was given a new ball in a box by Clark Griffith, manager of the Senators, and he threw it—not tossed it, mind you—with speed and precision into the hands of pitcher Walter Johnson. The upper illustration shows him catching the boxed ball from Griffith. The other picture shows positive proof that the president is a fan. Notice his "fan smile." For a few hours he forgot all about the intricacies of the tariff situation and gave himself up to enjoyment. He was accompanied to the game by his daughter Eleanor and Secretary Tamm. They are seen in the lower illustration on the right. In the last campaign Ex-Governor Robert B. Glenn of North Carolina, bespeaking on many stumps and hustings the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency, told of a baseball game played at Davidson college, North Carolina, in the spring of 1873. The point on which the former governor dwelt was that both he and one Thomas Woodrow Wilson played for Davidson in this game. He attributed to "Tom Wilson" an "arm like iron and the speed of the wind." Bob Glenn would have been proud of Tom Wilson had he seen him as president throw the first ball here. Thousands in the grandstand and bleachers cheered the skill with which the president tossed the ball and welcomed him royally into the ranks of fans. As the game progressed they became more and more convinced that President Wilson was a "real rooter."

Manufacturer Will Provide For 50 Youngsters During Strike—Others Agree to Pay Week's Wages

HERSTAL, Belgium, April 12.—A number of employers of this city while deploring the strike have decided to aid their hands in participating in the demonstration in favor of manhood suffrage. One manufacturer has undertaken to feed 50 children during the strike and various others have agreed to pay the strikers a week's wages.

MR. E. G. BAKER

Talks of the Extension of Fairmount Street and the Value of Land on Mansur Street

Mr. Baker of the Realty Associates states that if an extension of Fairmount street is needed there would seem to be no reason why it should not be extended. Of course his company dislikes to sacrifice one of their lots as planned to be taken, as they regard the location one of the best for building purposes in the city. They purchased the land of Thomas H. Ellett, paying 35 cents per foot for the same, and will pay 50 cents per foot for any lot in Mansur street equally as good.
